Winnie Judd To Be Granted Two Months' Reprieve

STATE BOARD OF PAROLES ACTS TODAY

Governor Moeur Asked to Approve Delay in Execution Until April 14

PLEA TO BE HEARD

Pardons and Paroles Board Will Hear Mrs. Judd's Pardon Plea March 6

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 27.—(UP)—The state board of pardons and paroles today requested Gov. B. B. Moeur to approve a two months' reprieve for Winnie Ruth Judd, condemned to hang Feb. 17.

Should the governor grant the request, Mrs. Judd's hanging would be postponed until April 14. Governor Moeur indicated he would approve the reprieve late today.

If this temporary stay of execution is granted, the board announced it would hear on March 6 Mrs. Judd's plea for her death sentence be commuted.

The "blonde tigress," sentenced to die for the murder of Agnes Ann Lerol, seeks an outright pardon, life imprisonment or varying terms in the state prison.

The board's request stated that conflicting duties of members—Arthur T. Laparte, attorney general, and Herman Hendrix, superintendent of public instruction—compelled the postponement of the hearing.

Attorneys for Mrs. Judd said they welcomed the additional time afforded them by the reprieve to prepare their case when it is presented to the board. The hearing on the clemency plea is expected to take two or three days. The board will hear the plea at the state prison.

Mrs. Judd, in her cell at the prison, welcomed the news. "I am very glad to hear of it," her jailers quoted her as saying. Mrs. Judd explained to them, her guards said, that the continuance of the dreaded hanging would permit her to recover from the arduous cross-examination she underwent during the preliminary hearing of J. J. Halloran, wealthy lumberman and her one-time admirer, who was accused as her accessory. The charge was dismissed.

HOOVERS PACKING HOUSEHOLD GOODS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(UP)—Although the Hoovers' official moving day is more than a month away, most of their private documents and bulky goods already have been trucked away from the White House.

The packing and moving are being done as quietly as possible, and surrounded with considerable secrecy.

For several weeks newspaper photographers tried to get a picture of some of the packing cases being trucked away. The boxes were always slipped out a side door when the picture makers weren't looking. Yesterday, however, the cameramen thought they had triumphed, for they finally got a picture of a load being taken away.

The secret service promptly telephoned all the picture agencies and demanded that the photographs be suppressed. The reason for the ban was not disclosed.

Chiselization Latest For Civilization

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—(UP)—"Chiselization," which is his name for civilization, could learn a lot from the so-called primitive Esquimaux, believes Father Bernard Hubbard, famous Santa Clara university volcanologist and explorer.

The young Jesuit scoffed when asked if he didn't enjoy going back to civilization.

"Civilization? Chiselization would be a better term. I'd like to get back to the tundra. It seems awfully strange to come back to what you call God's country. To me, New York merely is a huge center of human misery. You people are not nearly so happy as the Esquimaux whom you regard as an uncultured, miserable race."

MAJORITY SEEN FOR DEVALERA IN NEXT DAIL

Republicans Lead But 18 Out of 37 Outstanding Seats for Control

DUBLIN, Jan. 27.—(UP)—Eamon de Valera's republican party approached a clear majority in the new Dail today, needing only 18 out of 37 outstanding seats to insure control even without support by the labor party.

At noon, De Valera had 59 seats and other parties combined had the same number. With seven labor seats counted on to support the republicans, De Valera needed only 13 more to ensure a coalition majority. Without labor's support, the republicans needed 20 seats to reach 77, a majority. There are 153 seats in the Dail.

Republicans predicted De Valera could form a cabinet with a majority of at least two or three over all parties combined.

The standing of the parties at 1:30 p. m. was:

- Fianna Fail (De Valera), 59.
- Cumman Na Naedheal (Conservative), 35.
- Independents, 7.
- Labor, 7.
- Center Party, 7.
- Independent-Labor, 1.

De Valera had hoped to win 80 seats and in view of the surprising increase in the Fianna Fail poll, politicians gave the president better than an even chance to reach his goal.

Congress supporters were alarmed by defeat of their candidates, especially Blythe Monaghan and the sister of Michael Collins, murdered patriot in North Dublin. The republican vote increased several thousand in several districts compared with the last election.

KAISER CELEBRATES HIS 74TH BIRTHDAY

DOORN, Holland, Jan. 27.—(UP)—Members of the former ruling family of Germany gathered at Doorn today to congratulate ex-Kaiser Wilhelm on his 74th birthday.

The former crown prince and his son, Louis Ferdinand; the ex-kaiser's son Eitel Frederick and August Wilhelm; the former Grand Duke Albrecht of Wurttemberg; and members of the German nobility attended divine services at Doorn house this morning conducted by Pastor Scheineller of Berlin.

Wilhelm entertained a selected list of guests at luncheon. There will be a banquet this evening to which prominent Dutch statesmen and business men have been invited. Later in the evening a film will be shown of the steel helmet gathering in Berlin last year, a great military display in which members of the ex-royal family participated. The ex-kaiser sent his greetings, but did not attend.

Grand Jury Indicts Six In Oakland

Grand Theft Charges Are Placed Against Officials of B. & L. Company

OAKLAND, Jan. 27.—(UP)—Indictments ordering the arrest, on grand theft charges, of six officers and salesmen of the Pittsburgh Building and Loan association and its holding company, the Lusitania Corp., Inc., were issued by the district attorney's office here today.

Those named in the indictments were V. L. Coffett, vice president of the Pittsburgh Building and Loan Corp.; G. R. Searl, secretary of the Pittsburgh Building and Loan Corp.; Jack Freitas, Frank L. Smith, L. W. Garcia and Rufino Fernandez, salesmen.

The association and holding company have headquarters here and operate also in San Joaquin, San Mateo, Sonoma and Contra Costa counties.

According to District Attorney Earl Warren, salesmen of the association obtained business by contacting people with bank accounts and informing them the bank was about to fail. The prospects assertedly were urged to withdraw their money and invest in Pittsburgh on the promise they would receive 7 percent interest payable semi-annually.

Most of the complainants, Warren said, are foreigners, many of them Italian.

In many cases, instead of receiving a passbook in the Pittsburgh company, the investors would be given stock certificates in the Lusitania corporation, it was charged. Warren said the association was protected by the federal government and that all losses would be paid if it is shown the concern defaulted.

Charges against employees and officials of the companies resulted from the action of Mrs. Emily Pine of South Alameda, who went to the district attorney's office to demand.

PROHIBITION FUNDS ARE CUT BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(UP)—The house today voted to reduce prohibition enforcement funds 10 percent under the amount recommended by the appropriations committee.

It adopted by a vote of 129 to 118 an amendment to the four department appropriation bill reducing enforcement allowances for the next fiscal year from $9,120,000 to $8,440,000.

By a vote of 122 to 107 the house then voted to bar the use of any of the appropriated funds for wire tapping in obtaining evidence on prohibition law violation. The amendment was offered by Rep. Tinkham, Rep. Mass.

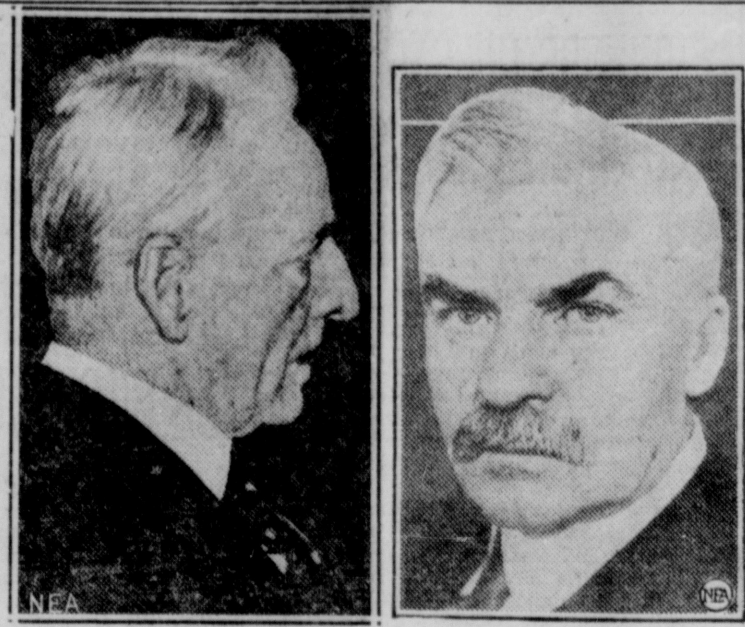

The house then adopted 132 to 78 amendments to the bill prohibiting the use of funds for purchase of intoxicating liquor by prohibition agents for pay of informers or the purchase of evidence.

Boggs had planned to land at Norconian club field. It was dark. He missed the field and attempted to come down in a clearing. Trees interfered and the plane crashed after ripping down a power line. Boggs' legs were broken. The women were seriously hurt but will recover. Both were deluged with gasoline.

Boggs came here recently from Washington. He formerly resided at Piedmont, near Oakland. An inquest was to be conducted late today.

ACCEPT CABINET POSTS

Below Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia and Sen. Thomas J. Walsh of Montana who, it is reported, have accepted the posts of secretary of treasury and attorney general, respectively, in the Roosevelt cabinet. Both Glass and Walsh declined to discuss the reports.

GLASS AND WALSH REPORTED TO HAVE ACCEPTED OFFERS OF POSTS IN NEXT CABINET

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(UP)—The Washington Post today said Sen. Carter Glass, veteran Virginia Democrat and authority on financial legislation, has accepted appointment as Secretary of Treasury in the Roosevelt cabinet. The Post also said Sen. Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, Montana, has accepted the post of Attorney General.

Both Glass and Walsh declined to discuss the reports.

The Post said formal announcement of the appointment was expected within a few days from President-elect Roosevelt's present headquarters at Warm Springs, Ga.

The United Press at the same time learned authoritatively that Mr. Roosevelt has offered a cabinet post to Sen. Hiram Johnson, California insurgent Republican, and is earnestly seeking his acceptance. Johnson bolted his own party and supported Mr. Roosevelt in the November election.

The negotiations with Johnson were said to center chiefly around the secretaryship of the interior, which has been set aside for a westerner. Johnson, however, has been given to understand that administration offers other posts open to him.

Johnson declined to discuss the matter in any way. Some of his friends doubted he would accept a cabinet post. They believed he might prefer to maintain his vaunted political independence rather than place himself in a position where he would be committed to support Mr. Roosevelt's policies. He disagrees at present with the president-elect's decision to open negotiations with European nations seeking war debt revision.

The Post said selection of Glass to head the treasury department was considered "an omen that inflationary proposals have been put on the high shelf by Mr. Roosevelt" as Glass is a militant defender of sound money. The Virginian was co-author of the federal reserve act and served as secretary of treasury for more than a year in the latter part of the Wilson administration. He served 20 years in the house and has been in the senate since 1920. He is 74 years old.

Senator Walsh, now 73 years old, has served continuously in the senate since 1912. He is recognized as one of the foremost constitutional lawyers in congress.

ONE IS KILLED AND TWO HURT IN CRASH

CORONA, Calif., Jan. 27.—(UP)—An airplane crash while they were flying to a dance at Fuller ranch near here resulted today in the death of Marshall Boggs, air line inspector for the department of commerce, and injury of two women, Mrs. Mary Coogan, Los Angeles, and Miss Stacia Curry, San Marino.

Boggs had planned to land at Norconian club field. It was dark. He missed the field and attempted to come down in a clearing. Trees interfered and the plane crashed after ripping down a power line. Boggs' legs were broken. The women were seriously hurt but will recover. Both were deluged with gasoline.

Boggs came here recently from Washington. He formerly resided at Piedmont, near Oakland. An inquest was to be conducted late today.

STEAMER SPEEDING TO DISABLED SHIP

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 27.—(UP)—The Dollar line steamer Tacoma and Seattle were speeding today towards the disabled freighter Everett, about 1000 miles off Cape Flattery.

The Everett radioed that her main exhaust and two condensers were gone and that she needed assistance. She was making only six knots an hour but was said to be in no immediate danger.

The Tacoma and Seattle were expected to reach the Everett today. The American Mail line steamer President Jefferson also was notified.

En route to the Orient, the Everett left Seattle January 14. She carries a crew of 35 and 14 of 3571 net tons.

Urges R.F.C. Loan Money For Project

Senator Elect Writes Letter Endorsing Plan to Borrow $15,000

WILLIAM G. McADOO, senator-elect from California, has endorsed the city's plan to borrow $15,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, for enlarging the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl, thereby giving additional labor to the local unemployed and will do everything he can to assist the city in procuring the loan, it was learned here today.

At the same time, it was learned he has written a letter to the Hon. Charles A. Miller, president of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation at Washington, in which he asks Miller to give the matter his special attention and if possible favorable consideration.

Copies of both letters were today in the hands of Mayor Paul Witmer of Santa Ana.

Witmer stated today that the plan to borrow money from the R. F. C. for the project, is being discussed by members of the council, but that so far, no formal application for the funds has yet been made.

All members of the council are required to sign asking for the loan, it was brought out, and as yet the council as a whole has not endorsed the plan.

McAdoo's letter to Mayor Witmer is as follows:

"Dear Mr. Mayor: I have yours of the 18th instant, enclosing copy of the application of the city of Santa Ana to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a loan of $15,000.

"I shall be glad to endorse it and to do everything I can to help you."

DEMOCRATS IN SENATE AGREE TO REDUCTIONS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(UP)—Senate Democrats agreed today to attempt reduction of federal expenditures to the $2,949,000,000 which is estimated to represent the government's probable revenues in the next fiscal year.

The Democratic agreement was reached in caucus after Senator Tydings, Dem., Md., instituted his "taxpayers filibuster" against federal expenses. The Democratic conference did not undertake to make all the cuts at the present short session.

Tydings accepted the compromise program and said he would withdraw his motion to recommit the pending treasury postoffice appropriations bill.

Democratic efforts to avoid a vote on Tydings' original resolution of yesterday were blocked when Senator Kean, Republican, N. J., objected to a unanimous consent request that Tydings be permitted to withdraw it.

Senate Minority Leader Robinson announced the conferees had agreed to reduce the treasury-postoffice bill by from $35,000,000 to $30,000,000. He refused to explain the economies in detail.

The treasury-postoffice bill as reported to the senate calls for appropriations of $95,441,587.

The conferees adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, that it is the declared policy of senate Democrats that the appropriations in the aggregate shall be reduced at the earliest opportunity."

CARRY AWAY SAFE CONTAINING $2219

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—(UP)—Forcing their way into the Suto barns of the Market street railway early today three bandits bound and gagged the night dispatcher and carried away a safe containing $2219.

The dispatcher, Paul Frasher, manuevered his body until he could kick a telephone off a table. His muffled cries for help, directed into the transmitter, brought police.

He was working at a typewriter when he noticed a man at the window, holding a shotgun. At the same moment, another man leaped through the door and slugged him over the head. The trio then bound him, knocked the combination off the small safe, wheeled the strong box to the door and lifted it into a sedan.

GRANGE WILL CONTINUE TO PROBE ACTS

Speaker Says Proof Obtained That Farm Bureau Collected Fight Money

LETTER IS AWAITED

Circulations of Petitions Will Be Started When Authority Is Received

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 27.—(UP)—George Schmeier, master of the California State Grange, today flatly denied what he termed were "insinuations" that the Democratic party is financing the grange's recall movement against Governor Rolph.

Referring to a defense of the Rolph administration by R. V. Garrod of the California farm bureau, Schmeier said:

"The grange has definite proof that the farm bureau collected money in San Francisco and Los Angeles to fight farm organizations."

"Besides that the farm bureau is inconsequential and is by no stretch of the imagination representative of agricultural interests of California."

Schmeier insisted that the grange would proceed with circulating its recall petitions just as soon as a letter is received from national headquarters giving it written authority.

The senate fact-finding committee today recommended that the salary of Rolland A. Vandegriff, state director of finance, be cut from $10,000 to $6,000 a year, and that his office be shorn of most of its authority.

A similar report, issued by the committee last night, proposed that more than $1,000,000 in economies be made in the state department of agriculture by salary reductions, abolishing certain services and making others self-supporting.

BRIDGE BILLS ARE SIGNED BY ROLPH

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—(UP)—The last obstacle to immediate construction of the $75,000,000 San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge was removed today with the signature of Gov. James Rolph on legislative enabling acts validating a $62,000,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

After the six bills were voted by the legislature in session at Sacramento, they were rushed to St. Francis hospital here, where the executive affixed his signatures last night. The governor was confined to bed with influenza.

"This means a lot to not only California but to the entire nation," Governor Rolph commented. "Completion of the trans-bay bridge will give the nation an unbroken central highway from the Pacific to the Atlantic."

The agents, after rounding up a number of suspects, revealed their activities were directed against a "Japanese vice king," who, they said, has extracted thousands of dollars from syndicated vice dens and sent the money to Japan in preparation for his eventual return there. The last shipment amounted to $50,000, agents said.

HEAVY RAINFALL IN 'FRISCO REPORTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—(UP)—Heavy rainfall swept the Pacific coast again today as a new snow moved in from the ocean. Snowfall continued in the mountains, promising to pile up a new all time record that will receive the blessing of farmers and seamen next summer.

Gales decreased along the coast, but general storms continued to whip the Pacific, hindering shipping and disabling the freighter Everett, 90 miles west of Seattle. Little damage was reported as the result of the latest storm, and government forecasters expected clearing weather tomorrow.

HALSEY STUART IS ISSUED SUBPOENA

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(UP)—A U. S. senate subpoena in the hands of Halsey Stuart & Co., one of the largest bond houses in the country, would require them to produce all records of their business in Washington, D. C., Monday.

The order presented by James E. Stewart, chief investigator for the senate banking committee, calls upon the investment firm to clean out the vaults of the La Salle street offices and bring the books to the capital. Halsey Stuart & Co., marketed many issues of Insull securities and Harold L. Stuart, the investment firm's head, was high in Insull councils.

AIRPLANE PILOT IS SENTENCED TO JAIL

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 27.—(UP)—Grant Spillman, airplane pilot, was in jail today after he pleaded guilty in United States district court to charges of smuggling liquor across the Mexican border.

Spillman was arrested at Van Nuys Metropolitan airport by customs agents who said they found 100 gallons of liquor in his plane. Tom Gochi, caretaker at the port, who also was arrested, was discharged upon payment of $300 fine. Gochi was extended leniency when Spillman admitted the contraband was his property.

WILL ROGERS

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 27. (To The Editor of The Register:)

Glass banking bill passed the Senate. During the long argument over it so much was printed about what Huey said that the newspapers never did print what the bill said. We just trust to the good banking judgment of Carter Glass to have something worth while. Glass is an absolute authority on money, and it's astonishing that the Republicans were never able to win him over.

France wants to get in on the debt settlement, on account of them paying nothing as it is under the new settlement we are to start paying them.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS

COUPON PLAN INAUGURATED TO AID NEEDY

A new method of providing food and relief, principally for transient men, and at the same time providing a means for Santa Ana citizens to be sure that their donations to transients will be used for food and the funds donated spent in Santa Ana has been devised by the Citizens' Unemployment Emergency committee and the Unemployed Association of Santa Ana.

The plan provides for the issuance of a coupon book containing 12 coupons, each of which is valued at five cents and each of which is redeemable at five local restaurants for food orders, which consist of either a cup of coffee and a doughnut; potato and gravy and bread and butter; or meat stew.

The coupons also are redeemable at the Unemployed association headquarters on North Main street, where for three coupons the following articles of food will be given: One-fourth pound coffee, one-fourth pound sugar, one-half loaf bread, two ounces of salt, one-half pound rolled oats and a small can of milk.

The coupon books, which cost 60 cents for the 12, are on sale at all banks and at the Unemployed headquarters at Tenth and Main streets. They will be delivered at homes by telephoning 5610.

Cafes have agreed to have the meals ready at all hours they are open.

DEMOCRATS IN SENATE AGREE TO REDUCTIONS

Most practical time to a sum equal to that of the estimated revenue and that the appropriations committee is instructed to make a survey of all appropriations bills and to make reductions therein where ever possible without impairing the efficiency of essential services and conforming to a policy of strictest economy.

Tydings and Senators Bratton, Dem., N. M., and Byrnes, Dem., S. C., drafted the compromise economy agreement.

Robinson said it was not expected that all possible economies would be accomplished by the appropriations committee "nor is it contemplated that the final goal of restoring a satisfactory proportion between revenues and expenses will be reached until material changes are made in appropriations authorizations."

"The aim is to do as much as possible during the present session and to speed up in every practical way the accomplishments of the ends set forth in the resolution."

DENIES RECALL BEING BACKED BY DEMOCRATS

finance director, the committee said, have grown until they are now on a par with those of the governor.

"We do not believe that it is right and proper that so much power be concentrated in the hands of one man," the statement said.

In order to curb this power, the committee proposed that the state board of control, now under control of the governor, be reorganized to consist of the state controller, the attorney general and the director of finance.

"This board should be charged with the control of the general administrative financial policy of the state, and should assume the power in this respect that is now vested with the director of finance," said the report.

Similar reorganization was recommended for the state civil service. The committee would abolish the present civil service commission, appointed by the Governor, and create a new state division of civil service and personnel, under direct supervision of the board of control. This, it was estimated, would save approximately $98,500 a biennium.

Other major recommendations of the committee for the department of finance were:

Abolish the state bureau of commerce, San Francisco, saving $57,000 a biennium; abolish the position of chief of the division of service and supply, $10,000 a biennium; abolish division of publications and documents even though the Governor's budget says it will be self-supporting; eliminate attorney from the department of finance, and compel the department to get its legal counsel from the attorney general, and abolish farming operations at Napa state farm because they "compete with farmers of California."

It was recommended that Sutter's Fort in Sacramento be made self-supporting by charging a small admission fee, that janitors in the state buildings be reduced from 110 to 60, and the cost of maintaining Capitol park be reduced from $1150 to $700 an acre.

Ignore Scolding
Members of the senate virtually ignored a scolding delivered by Governor Rolph by telegram because his economy program had not been followed. Rolph accused the lawmakers of "capitalizing to the school lobby and the gas tax lobby."

"Well, at least we haven't capitlated to the public utility lobby," retorted Senator J. M. Inman, Sacramento, as the telegram was read.

Besides reducing the salary of Dudley Moulton, director of agriculture, from $6000 to $5000 a year, and all division chiefs in his department to $3600 a year, major recommendations for economies in the department were:

Abolish the following services: Exhibits and fairs, $14,140; duplication of milk inspection, $100,000; state support of milk bottle exchange, $15,000; apiary inspection, $10,750; position of chief of division of plant industry, $11,000; highway inspection of fruit and vegetable shipments, $15,000; organizing cooperative marketing associations, $25,000; fish exchange, $73,040; mattress and upholstered furniture inspection, $154,970.

Complete bovine tuberculosis indemnification but start no new campaign, $101,490; reduce border plant quarantine inspection, $12,800; transfer economic poison and fertilizer field inspection to state board of health, $20,000; also canned fruit inspection, $2500; and, ripe olive standardization, $1000.

Eliminate or make self-supporting these agencies: Poultry laboratories at Petaluma and Los Angeles, $18,570; grain inspection, $47,460; state warehouse inspection, $27,280; hay inspection, $18,210; deciduous fruit dealers service, $28,884.

CONFESSED ROBBERS AWAITING WARRANTS

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(UP)—Confessions of additional robberies in Los Angeles have been obtained from Ralph Lane and Howard Stewart, both 21, who are under arrest here, police said today.

After confessing, according to police, that they held up and robbed Byron Fitts, district attorney, and Irene Dunn, actress, in Los Angeles, the pair admitted robbing Herman Janss and his wife and guests at their Los Angeles home, authorities reported. Lane and Stewart came here Jan. 9 and were arrested shortly after a robbery in Glencoe. They also confessed holdups in other mid-western cities, according to police.

Total losses, Warren believes, may exceed $250,000. Books of both companies were seized.

termine why she received no interest on money she invested. She claimed she had been persuaded to draw $4500 from a San Jose building concern and $1600 from the Alameda county bank at Irvington. She was given an envelope and told it contained her pass-book, she said. Interest was deferred, she was informed, because of adjustments that were being made. After some time passed, Mrs. Pine sought advice from a neighbor who could read. She discovered that what she supposed was a pass book was in reality an envelope containing 22 shares of Lusitania stock, she said.

Similar experiences were reported by other complainants, including Antonina Silva, who assertedly invested $7000, and Joaquin Olivera, $10,000.

A jury in criminal court decided the youth, Varner Corry, 17, was mentally irresponsible for killing Patrolman Edward Smith on Memorial Day, 1931. After deliberating four hours, jurors said they believed the boy's mind had been excited by movie thrillers and lurid stories to such a degree that he was unable to discern right from wrong.

"I know I'm going to be a good boy from now on," was Corry's first comment. A few moments before, brought from his cell to hear the verdict, he was praying and weeping. His parents, both emotional, rushed to his side.

Books of both companies were seized.

FORD COMPANY PLANTS CLOSED OVER COUNTRY

Ford company itself was having no difficulties with labor and the shutdown was due to the strike at the Briggs plant.

Once during the war Ford was forced to curtail operations to conform to war time fuel regulations and often during the period necessary fuel was difficult to obtain.

Approximately 6000 men are striking at the Briggs plant where their demands for higher wages were met with firm refusals by officials who maintained that it was impossible for them to pay higher wages and compete in the present low price market. Company officials insisted that 90 per cent of the strikers were ready to return. Strike leaders stoutly maintained that they still were not backing of the majority of the former workers and would hold out indefinitely.

Little hope was seen for resumption of work in the Ford plants until the Briggs and Murray companies can resume their operations. The Briggs plant last week worked part time with a few loyal employees but eventually closed down until full time operations could be assured.

Effect on the motor industry at large was difficult to ascertain. In the past buying has often held off in anticipation of new Ford models. The new cars were to have made their appearance before the public within a few days.

At the Mammoth River Rouge main plant here anxious groups clustered about the fences at the entrances but officials expected no difficulties.

Dearborn police however were understood to have made preparations to handle any situation that might arise if the Briggs and Murray strikers should enlist the Ford workers in a sympathetic movement.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY FREED OF MURDER

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(UP)—A "model" high school youth who spent the last hours of his murder trial praying for acquittal was free today of charges accusing him of slaying a policeman.

A jury in criminal court decided the youth, Varner Corry, 17, was mentally irresponsible for killing Patrolman Edward Smith on Memorial Day, 1931. After deliberating four hours, jurors said they believed the boy's mind had been excited by movie thrillers and lurid stories to such a degree that he was unable to discern right from wrong.

COMPLETION OF CITY MUSEUM IS CONSIDERED

Plans for installing electrical fixtures in the Charles W. Rowers Museum at Twentieth and Main streets were discussed at a meeting of the museum board held this morning in the postoffice building.

Board members decided to recommend that the city council purchase the necessary fixtures to complete the installation work. The council is expected to take action

County Jail Getting "Dolled-Up"

The inside of the county jail building is getting all dressed up with new paint and colors.

Workers who have been busy there for the past several days expect to complete their work soon. The old brown walls are disappearing and in their place, bright white walls, which blend into a light tan and then into a deeper brown at the bottom are taking their place.

The new paint gives the jail a much better appearance, making it look exactly what it is, the best jail, according to authorities, in the state.

on the matter at the regular meeting Monday night.

The board plans to go ahead with landscaping plans on the grounds of the museum in the near future.

Whether or not the museum will be opened soon will be learned after the city has learned how much money can be allowed various departments for operation the balance of the year. This is expected to become known after the amount of tax delinquencies is known. Definite information will probably be made public in about two weeks.

If the city has sufficient funds, it is probable that the furniture for the museum will be purchased and other matters attended to which have been delaying the opening of the museum.

TECHNOCRACY DEBATE STAGED IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Jan. 27.—"Can Technocracy Relieve the Present Economic Situation?" This question was debated last night before a crowd of more than 400 at the Fullerton Union High school auditorium. J. F. Burke and A. C. Whitefield taking the affirmative and William Wade and Dr. V. G. Rich the negative.

The debate, held under the auspices of the law classes of Charles L. Ruby of the school as part of the regular night work, is part of the program provided by the instructor to provide materials for the students and their guests to think about. Appreciation was expressed last night to the board of trustees of the school for permitting such meetings where the citizens may gather to hear current questions discussed while students of the law class are attending session.

System Inefficient Whitefield, who had the floor first, said that technocracy, given its possible revision of program, can relieve us because the present system has shown its faults and has shown it is inefficient and unable to cope with these conditions, while technocracy has scientifically pointed out where the fault lies.

Whitefield prefaced his remarks by quoting facts which, he said, might be even 25 percent too high, yet are relatively proportionately correct, and showing that with the present situation of debt, the nation has dissipated all its wealth, and the debtors own it, and it is rapidly approaching insolvency.

William Wade, the second speaker, said he thought that the theory of technocratic government is based on the principle that the present economic shortage is caused by increase in production, brought about by invention of machinery, thus bringing unemployment, lowered purchasing power, reduced markets and more unemployment.

A vicious circle. The technocrats hope to substitute the price system to rectify this, he said, establishing a unit of energy system to replace it.

Sees Lack of Ambition His argument against such a program is that such a process will not induce men to ambition, for it will not provide the great incentive, that of acquiring, which "for hundreds of years has been the most precious heritage of the Anglo-Saxon race. Technocracy will create a powerful autocracy of engineers and people will not stand for that."

Burke refuted statements that technocracy is new, except in the terminology, and read excerpts from the March issue of 1931 of the annuals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science in which just such results of the present system as we are undergoing are anticipated, due to machinery use. He said further he has been watching it since a youth.

Safe, Sane Program The principle of acquiring for self is denied to the millions of men out of work at present, he suggested, and is a principle based on desiring security, while a program that provides for all will not kill initiative, but will give that safe and secure program that will abolish the need of victimizing our fellows to obtain economic security.

The great question that technocracy is seeking to solve is to distribute enough for all, Burke said, and is the need of the world at

GETS TERM IN JAIL ON DRUNK DRIVING COUNT

Two prisoners appeared before Superior Judge James L. Allen this morning with applications for probation. One application was granted and the other denied.

Earl Minter who recently pleaded guilty to a charge of grand theft in connection with the theft of an automobile from E. E. Ross of Placentia, was denied probation. Minter who is 18 years old was ordered to Preston School of Industry at Ione, until he is 21 years of age.

According to information received here Minter was befriended and given a home by Ross and one morning while Ross was at work, drove away in his automobile which was destroyed by fire near Ludlow, Calif.

Ramcr Barragan, who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was given probation for three years, providing he spend three months in the county jail. His operator's license also was revoked by Judge Allen.

In granting the probation Judge Allen informed Barragan that the three months term in the county jail was just half the usual term for probation on drunk driving charges. The leniency was shown, he said, because of Barragan's wife and seven children.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR PRIEST MONDAY

Funeral services for Monsignor Henry Eummelen, known in Orange county as Father Eummelen, who died yesterday in San Diego, will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning at St. Joseph's church in San Diego. Burial will take place in San Diego.

Bishop John J. Cantwell and priests from all parts of the diocese will take part in the services. Monsignor Eummelen was born in Lutterade, Holland, in 1862. He started his studies for priesthood in Holland, coming to this country with his parents at the age of 16 years. He continued his studies as a pupil of the Franciscans in Illinois and with the Benedictines at Mt. Angel, Ore., and finished his priestly studies with the Vicentian Fathers in Los Angeles.

He was ordained to the priesthood in Leavenworth, Kans., in 1890 and was assigned to the Cathedral parish and did pioneer work among the widely scattered missions in eastern Kansas until his strength gave out. He later went to Vancouver, B. C., where he was in charge of parish work for nine years.

His health failed him and he resigned to go to San Diego, where he remained for three years, recuperating from his illness. Later he was given charge of the Imperial valley by Bishop Conaty and was then sent to National City, coming from there to Santa Ana in 1918 as pastor of St. Joseph's church, then the only parish in the city. He left Santa Ana in December, 1929, to go to Sacred Heart church in San Diego, where he retired in 1930.

CIVIC BODY IN NEW MOVE TO AVERT RECALL

voters want Councilmen Gowen and Potter to resign.
This move resulted as a result of refusal of the group working for recall to consider the secret straw ballot on reinstatement of Judge Spence at the mass meeting Wednesday night, when Tom Eadington, president of the chamber, presented the counter action.
The statement issued by the chamber of commerce following a meeting last night and signed by the president, is as follows:

"The Fullerton Chamber of Commerce directors, continuing their impartial efforts to avert a recall election, arranged a conference last evening between all members of the city council and a representative committee chosen from the group which proposed recall of two member councilmen.
"C. R. Allen, spokesman for the committee, presented a request that the chamber, while submitting to each voter a secret ballot relating to reinstatement of Recorder Spence, submit also a ballot by which the voters could register their wishes as to the resignation of Councilmen Gowen and Potter.
"This counter proposal was received in fine spirit by the coun-

COUNTY TIRE CONTRACT LOW BID IS $241

Bids for truck tires to be used by Orange county on a six months contract, with the option of renewing for an additional six months, have been opened by Purchasing Agent F. F. Slabaugh and the contract probably will be awarded next Tuesday at the meeting of the board of supervisors.
Because it is impossible to know how many tires will be used during the time of the contract, the bids were submitted on the basis of the eight types of tires required in county service. The prices as submitted in the bids were based on one tire of each type.

The delay in awarding the bids according to Slabaugh, was created through necessity of study mechanical requirements and whether or not the bidders could supply the exact type of tire necessary.
Prices range from $241.91, the low bid submitted by Dunlop Tire and Rubber company, to $374.40, submitted by Firestone Service.
Bids submitted in order of ranking were: Firestone Service, Firestone tires, $374.40; E. C. Kirby, Kelly-Springfield, $374.40; Herb Miller, Diamond tires, $373.95; Jerry Hall, U. S. Royal tires, $368.36; Irwin Brothers, Goodrich tires, $363.15; Orval Lyon, Goodrich tires, $361.96; Goodyear Service, Bood-year tires, $361.13; Pagenkopf, General tires, $361.13; West Brothers, U. Kier, General tires, $283.63; Sidvin Tire Service, McLaren tires, $282.45; and Dunlop Tire and Rubber company, Dunlop tires, $241.91.

CHOSE WRONG PLACE TO MAKE THE SALE

Louis Lyston Richards, 20, of Tulsa, Okla., staged such a fast "steal and sell" scheme here yesterday that the swiftness of it, together with the fact that Ed Gormezan, pharmacist at the Seventeenth street store of the Givens and Cannon drug company, has good eyes, landed him in the county jail on a charge of petty theft.

Richards walked into the store yesterday afternoon and attempted to sell the store 20 packages of razor blades. This alone was unusual, but when Gormezan noticed the markings on the box and recognized them as the markings at the Fourth street store of his company, he promptly called the police.

In the meantime, Richards found out that something was wrong and walked out of the store. Police officers who arrived within a few moments caught him several blocks from the store.

The journal, which seeks to acknowledge living men and women who have contributed to research work in the field of science, is published each five years. The 1933 edition will appear in March. ## S. A. HOST TO DISTRICT MEET FOR MORMONS

Between 200 and 400 missionaries and members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormons) are expected to be in Santa Ana for the two-day conference of the Long Beach district, starting tomorrow, according to Elder J. R. Sandstrom, president of the Santa Ana branch of the church. The conference will be held at the Latter Day Saints' chapel, 811 West Myrtle street.

Elder George F. Richards of Salt Lake City, one of the Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and president of the famed "Mormon" Temple in Salt Lake, will be in attendance at the conference and be the special speaker at the opening session, scheduled for 7 o'clock tomorrow night.

Richards will be accompanied to Santa Ana by Alonzo A. Hinckley, president of the California Mission, with headquarters in Los Angeles. Richards and Hinckley have just completed a tour of California and Arizona, holding meetings in most of the large cities of both states.

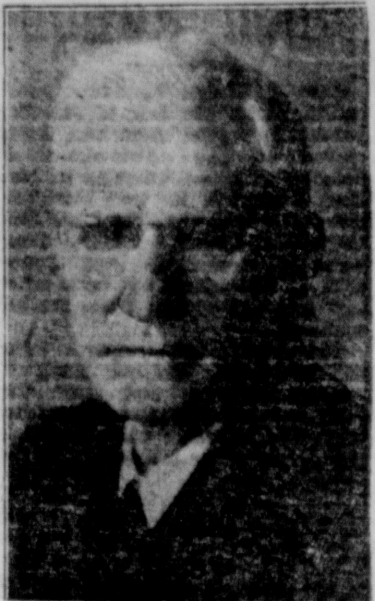

Saturday and Sunday meetings during the conference will be under direction of Kenneth L. Duke, president of the Long Beach district.

Delegates to the conference will represent all communities in Orange county and many communities of Los Angeles county which form the Long Beach district.

Elder Richards is one of the outstanding figures of the Mormon church and his position as president of the Temple at Salt Lake City adds further distinction to his activity. President Hinckley has

LOAN ASSOCIATION REPORTS GOOD YEAR

Directors of the Southwest Building-Loan association will meet the early part of next month for organization and election of officers following the annual meeting held at the association office on North Broadway Wednesday afternoon when directors were elected by stockholders.

Net profits for the past year show an increase over the year 1931, according to a report made to the stockholders. There were 455 shares represented at the meeting out of a possible 500 shares of the outstanding stock. The financial report submitted at the meeting reflects a satisfactory condition in the association business, it was reported.

H. C. Head, prominent local attorney, and W. D. Ranney, president of the Excelsior Creamery company, were elected to serve on the board of directors, succeeding F. E. Moore and E. E. Pratt. Other members of the board of directors elected were J. P. Baumgardner, Dr. J. E. Paul, C. H. Chapman, R. B. Newcom, Oliver Haisell, Carl Mock, John J. Harrison and Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, all of whom were previously serving on the board.

Suspend Sentence On Check Charge

Charged with petty theft in connection with the asserted issuance of a small check, Hans P. Paulson, 54 and his wife, Ella Paulson, each were given a suspended sentence by Justice Donald L. Dodge at Costa Mesa yesterday.

The couple was arrested in San Bernardino, by San Bernardino officers yesterday and turned over to local sheriff's officers. They were booked at the county jail last night.

SEMESTER END IS MARKED BY GRADUATION

Marking the close of the first semester for all schools in the city of Santa Ana, 73 students of the Julia Lathrop junior high school last night were given certificates of promotion to high school. The certificates were presented at an appropriate graduation exercise held in the auditorium of Francis Willard junior high school.

Tonight the graduating class of Frances Willard junior high school will receive their certificates of promotion. Graduates from the Santa Ana polytechnic high school and the junior college will receive their diplomas next June along with graduates who complete their work during the second semester.

The auditorium at Willard school was well filled last night by parents and friends of the students who were promoted. The program opened with the playing of the "Processional March" by the Lathrop orchestra. This was followed by the invocation given by the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, minister of the First Congregational church.

The boys' glee club of the school, under direction of Miss Edith Cornell, sang a group of songs and were followed by a selected group of students who gave reports on the activities of various departments of the school.

H. G. Nelson, principal of Lathrop school, delivered the main address. "The girls' glee club, under direction of Mrs. Maxine Bryte, sang and the class was presented by Principal Nelson. Dean Howell and Phillip Dowds led in a flag salute and Miss Cornell led the audience in singing of "America" as the closing number on the program.

Seven of the sons of Moulay Ismail, emperor of Morocco, from 1672 to 1727, assumed the title of emperor.

— News Behind the News —

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

BUDGET

The biggest bankers are getting a little shy about government credit. They have read the budget news out of Washington recently with some trepidation. They are the ones who pushed Treasury Secretary Mills into his campaign for a sales tax and a perfectly balanced book.

He thinks now he may have some trouble floating the long term experimental bond issue around February 1. It would probably be for $250,000,000. If it has to be suspended or does not go well agitation for the sales tax will be redoubled.

You cannot tell yet how that taxation policy will work out. The Roosevelt boys have not abandoned their private thought that a less rigid budget policy is advisable. That is what is behind their decision to put the matter off until the new Congress.

PRESS

Mr. Roosevelt's press is entirely different from those of Mr. Hoover.

Whereas Mr. Hoover has had about two press conferences in the last six months Mr. Roosevelt has one every day. The usual hour is 4 p. m. He knows by their first names all the newspapermen assigned to cover him. He does not tell them very much but he is genial about it. He hides them along, evading direct answers to their questions. He enjoys the daily sparring match thoroughly.

Talking "off the record" is one of his hobbies. That means what he says is not to be attributed to him but can be used by the newsmen on their own authority if they care to.

Usually it is too pro-Roosevelt for their purposes.

INVESTIGATION

Mr. Cooper gave Senators the palsy with his ideas about conducting investigations. They claim he wanted 500 blanket subpoenas issued to him. They pointed out only 25 have been issued so far in the entire so-called stock market investigation. Also they claim he wanted to work from his own office in New York with no hindrance from the Committee. That led Mr. Cooper and Senator Norbeck to the parting of the ways.

The latest hot tip from inside the committee is that they are looking over the books of a certain large bank affiliate in New York. No one will accept tips or even announcements from that committee any more unless they are accompanied by sworn affidavits.

RACKET

A certain senator has designated a private investigator to run down information about a new kind of blackmailing racket in Washington.

It seems certain companies have been threatened with official investigation unless they paid an amount of money. The evidence will be hard to get. The companies do not care to go into the matter. Those who paid do not want the fact advertised that they were such suckers. One which refused to pay and threatened exposure is satisfied to let things stand as there.

There is no indication that anyone in official position is involved. The private inquiry is being directed at an attorney who has only a nominal official conception. It is very probable that the racket will be broken up offstage but there may be a congressional investigation if conclusive evidence can be obtained.

ALLOTMENT

Some textile interests have joined the opposition to the farm bill. That may result in depriving it of three to five senate votes.

The strategy of the opposition lobby now favors delay. They think that if they can prevent action before March 4 they will be all right. That is a short-sighted policy. They can rely on a presidential veto. It might help their game in the end.

The way things appear now the farm bill will pass and be vetoed this session. It will become law in the special session.

RELIEF

It begins to appear that Mr. Hoover stole a full march on the Democrats in recommending that bankruptcy legislation.

Apparently he heard privately what the Democrats planned to do and then recommended it before they had publicly come out for it. That is better teamwork than has prevailed on any other issue.

SPEAKER

The boys in the house speakership race are acting like a flock of schoolgirls in a sorority election.

Mr. Rainey appears to have the race nearly won but a lot of the interested parties are getting catfish. Rainey is not exactly pleased with the way Garner is tied up with his leading opponent McPuffie of Alabama. Those two are very close. They meet every afternoon in what they call "the education society." That is a group of Garner's cronies who join him daily in discussing the affairs of the world. Rainey is not in the group.

The situation has developed to a point where Garner and Rainey have had what might be called a falling out. Their personal feeling is bound to have an important effect on future Democratic leadership in the house.

GARNER

The man in Washington closest to Mr. Roosevelt is Garner. They talk over the telephone frequently. Garner appears to be in possession of more information about what Roosevelt is going to do than anyone else in either house.

That surely indicates Garner is going to be a different kind of a vice president than any we have had recently. If he undertakes to lead congress for Mr. Roosevelt you will see a considerable change in the leadership lineup in the senate.

PARADE

The Socialists are supposed to be organizing quietly for a march on Washington inauguration day. Those who are promoting the idea want to run it on a higher plane than the Communist march at the opening of congress. Police here have received the tip and are investigating to determine if Norman Thomas is leading it. They will undoubtedly receive a fairer treatment than the Communists.

COMMERCE

Friends of Jesse Straus are backing him militantly for secretary of commerce. They put through the resolution calling for a retail merchant in the next cabinet which featured the National Retail Dry Goods convention last week.

Opposition tactics may possibly win Straus the seat.

NOTES

Those nearest Garner whisper that April 17 is the date tentatively fixed for calling the special session of the new Congress. . . . Congressman Bankhead is still a good bet for the new Democratic leadership. . . . He will probably get it unless McPuffie makes a deal with Rainey to withdraw from the speakership race — improbable in view of their personal feelings at present. . . . Bankhead is keeping himself in the public eye by frequent speeches on the floor.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

Lack of employment opportunities for college and high school graduates is causing increasing concern in high places. A survey indicates that unemployment figures which do not take this factor into account are much lower than they should be. An average of 2,500,000 young men and women have left school in each of the last three years—of whom 200,000 a year are college graduates. The percentage of unemployment has not been accurately figured but is known to be extremely high.

Graduates of Harvard college are probably better off with respect to business connections than those of most institutions. But only about 25 of the more than 600 in the class of 1932 are known to have found jobs.

Signs are increasing that this element of youth only lacks leadership to be a disturbing factor in the situation.

FRANCE

The drain on France's gold — from this country and elsewhere — is assuming serious proportions. New York estimates of the ultimate loss to the French reserves — unless the outflow is artificially checked — run to more than a billion dollars. A local bank with Paris connections, hears that an embargo on gold exports is being carefully considered.

DEBTS

The Hoover-Roosevelt decision to talk things over with our British debtor meets hearty approval in the financial district. Advocates of cancellation are keeping very quiet but hopes run high that revision with a quid pro quo in trade advantages is in sight.

STEEL

The Iron and Steel Institute — headed by ex-Secretary of Commerce Lamont — has been a disappointment to its sponsors. It differs from the Edison Institute in the utilities field because it makes no effort to exert authority over the industry.

One of the major activities of the institute has been an effort to induce the tariff commission to hoist the ante on pig-iron and finished steel products. One reason Lamont got the job was because they thought he had pulled. This lobbying has been highly successful.

A measure of its lack of success is the fact that pig-iron from Manchuria is being sold in Philadelphia for $11.50 a ton—a dollar cheaper than the minimum price of local producers.

National Steel is the miracle of the industry. It is the only steel company to cover its dividend requirements in 1932. U. S. Steel has been trying to hire its head for some time but he refuses to get interested.

The Detroit plant is one reason for the company's success. Detroit still takes 15 per cent to 20 per cent of the nation's steel consumption. Automobile buying has fallen off less than orders for rails and construction material.

CITY

Mayor O'Brien's gag rule on his commissioners is very strict. They are not allowed to give newspaper interviews without specific sanction of detailed statements. The point is that Tammany wants full credit for any reforms that are undertaken.

REPUBLICANS

Charles F. Whitman is working for the unification of all republican elements in the city—not for any candidate—with the idea of delivering them en bloc to whatever fusion movement develops most hopefully.

The republicans are thoroughly resigned to the fact that the candidate will have to be an independent Democrat. Al Smith's nomination—whether by Tammany or fusion elements—would be satisfactory at around. McKee is losing favor in anti-Tammany circles.

in the Month of February!

We know a man, pegging along just like millions of others, who said the other day:

"I don't believe anyone's going to help me very much; it's probably up to me more than it ever has been. I'm just forgetting the past and trying to do SOMETHING every day to improve my condition, no matter how little! I call it my PROGRESS WORK! I'm counting it up next Tuesday to see if I made any progress in January, and then try to do a little more in February!"

He has a small account with this bank and we're going to watch him more carefully than he knows to see if there are ways we can help him do a little more "Progress Work." He is worth the effort!

No More Piles

How to End Terrible Agony Without Slices or Cutting

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel. That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

HEM-ROID is so successful in even the most stubborn cases that McCoy Drug Store and all good druggists advise every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today. They must end your Pile agony or money back—Adv.

$8250 VALUE SET BY JURY IN CONDEMNATION

After three days of presenting evidence regarding the value of a 77,075 foot strip of land between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach, a jury hearing evidence in the suit of the state of California against the Willow Land company to condemn the strip for road widening returned a verdict late yesterday valuing the property at $8250.

A wide margin of difference between values placed on the property by appraisers for the owners and appraisers for the state has formed a prolific battleground during the hearing. The property extends along the present Coast highway from the Santa Ana bridge to the old bridge. It is the state's plan to condemn a 30-foot strip along the highway for the purpose of widening the existing route to 1000 feet.

Three appraisers representing the defendant Willow Land company, owners of the property involved have valued it at amounts ranging from $40,000 to $45,000, basing their valuation upon the property as business property. State appraisers making their valuation of the property on the basis of acreage estimated its worth as ranging from $4240 to $5000.

Edward H. Allen, Los Angeles appraiser for the defendant company valued the land at approximately $592 a front foot or a total of $45,000. G. E. Moore, also testifying for the property owners lowers the value slightly with his estimate of $40,000 and Ralph Maskey placed a value of $45,600 on the property.

Lew Wallace, Newport Beach real estate broker and businessman, called as an appraiser by the state estimated the property involved in the condemnation suit to be worth between $4500 and $5000. Frank E. McCarter, Santa Ana realtor placed a valuation of $4512 on the land and Jack Wallace, Santa Ana realtor appraised the property as worth $4240.

But both appeared at a reconciliation meeting in the office of Shires' attorney late yesterday, agreed to forget their disagreement.

They will leave shortly for St. Petersburg, Fla., stopping en route at Shires' home in Italy, Tex.

Recounting the days of half a century ago, when ranchers who planted acreage to walnuts were pronounced crazy by their fellow-ranchers, and when the demand for such products was so limited that the early planters found the walnuts a drug on the market, Harry W. Lewis, well known rancher of Santa Ana, told the story of walnut growing in Orange County at the Y. M. C. A. last night during the weekly Thursday program.

WHERE EINSTEIN WILL TEACH SUPER-SCHOLARS

Prof. Albert Einstein, the world's most widely recognized scientist, who has a life appointment as head of the first school of the super-university.

An Einstein relativity formula set in one of the windows of Fine Hall, Princeton University, where Einstein will teach.

Just as Isaac Newton, greatest mathematician of his day, did his research in peaceful Trinity College, Cambridge (above), Einstein, today's greatest mathematician, will work in a quiet American retreat.

By WATSON DAVIS

AN INTELLECTUAL heaven for the Einsteins of the world of learning where they may engage in creative research without financial cares or routine duties is being created. Prof. Albert Einstein, who is perhaps the most widely recognized scientist of today, is the head "for life" of the first school of this new "super-university."

Its directive force and instigator is Dr. Abraham Flexner, for years one of the heads of Rockefeller's General Education Board, and severest critic of the vocational trend in American universities.

The necessary financial support is an endowment of $5,000,000, donated by Louis Bamberger and his sister, Mrs. Felix Fuld. Princeton University is at present a friendly host to this independent educational agency.

Modest and unassuming is the title of this newest and most advanced of the world's educational and research institutions. It is "The Institute for Advanced Study."

AROUND such great scholars as Einstein there will be gathered groups of assistants and students. And this will be done without haste, with the atmosphere of Oxford, Cambridge and the other venerable European centers of learning.

Every incoming student of the Institute for Advanced Study will be capable of holding a professorship at an ordinary college. Few if any students will be invited who have not received the highest of ordinary graduate degrees, the Ph. D.

But Dr. Flexner has carefully left his academic door open for the exceptional scholar who has not received the routine academic approval conferred by degrees. An occasional unusual genius qualified intellectually may enter his portals of higher learning without the formal blessing of other institutions.

The details of education, so standardized in lower levels, will be left to the great intellects about whom the Institute will operate. If Professor Einstein does not wish to give lectures to the half dozen students that may be working with him, he will not do so. He will meet his colleagues when and where and how he chooses.

Not more than 10 students will work with any one professor of the Institute, and some of the faculty will desire to have only two or three

Dr. Abraham Flexner, directing the organization of the new institution.

Dr. Oswald Veblen, recently appointed professor of mathematics at the Institute for Advanced Study.

students associated with them at one time.

The formal term of actual study and research will extend for only six months of the year. The other half of the year the staff will be technically on vacation, but Dr. Flexner has found that those engaged in research often do their best work while "on vacation."

SO informal is the program at the Institute that it is hoped that the same creative spirit will infuse the working period as often confounds the so-called vacations and makes them so productive.

When a great scholar enters the Institute for Advanced Study he will leave practical cares of life behind him. The entire staff of professors and assistants will be employed full time on such a scale that they need not worry about life's routine, but can devote all their energies to "prolonged and fundamental thinking."

In addition to ample salaries, there will be retiring allowances, pensions and aid in the education of children.

"Institutions of learning are made up of men and women. In this complex modern civilization, with its steadily rising standard of living, it is of the first importance that education and research should attract gifted and vigorous talent.

"During the last 25 years the world has undergone great and important changes. Institutions of learning, once situated in quiet villages, now find themselves in the heart of busy and noisy cities. Men and women who a generation ago might have devoted themselves to academic life are swept into the vortex of practical life.

"Professor Seligman of Columbia University has recently said that the 'outlook for brains in American universities is an ominous one.' The sacrifices required of an American professor and his family are to a high degree deterrent.

"The conditions provided are rarely favorable to severe, prolonged and fundamental thinking. Poor salaries frighten off the abler and more vigorous and compel the university instructor to eke out his inadequate income by writing unnecessary textbooks or engaging in other forms of hack work which he should not have to do.

"I do not need to argue that, despite certain individual exceptions, American scholarship cannot be promoted upon an unsound and unsatisfactory economic basis.

"It is therefore of the utmost importance that we should set a new standard. We do not need a large faculty. We should endeavor to attract into the Institute a small number of scholars and scientists who will be free from financial worry and concern, who will live and work amidst conditions favorable to intellectual activity.

"A PROFESSORSHIP can never be as remunerative as the practice of law or medicine or a successful career in business. It need not be, for it has much to offer that neither law nor medicine nor business can offer.

"But, on the other hand, the German universities long ago proved that adequate remuneration with sufficient leisure amidst attractive and congenial living conditions and associations are absolutely necessary to an academic group."

To mathematics, the queen of sciences, the first school of the Institute for Advanced Study will be devoted. Associated with Professor Einstein will be Dr. Oswald Veblen, one of the world's leading mathematicians, who has been connected with Princeton University for 27 years.

Dr. Veblen has just resigned as Henry Burchard Fine Professor of Mathematics at Princeton University to accept a professorship in the Institute's School of Mathematics. Professor Einstein will have his faithful associate, Dr. Walter Mayer of Berlin, as his colleague in his work at Princeton, while Dr. J. L. Vandervliet has been appointed assistant to Professor Veblen.

ONE of Princeton University's newest and most magnificent buildings will provide a congenial home for the Institute's School of Mathematics for the next few years, at least. When Professor Einstein arrives in the fall of 1933 to take up his work in this building, he will be able to read over a fireplace in one of its rooms a quotation from his own scientific philosophy: "Raffiniert ist der Herr Gott, aber Boshaft ist Er nicht."

This has been translated: "God is clever, but not dishonest." It makes a good epigram that way; but like much of the Einsteinian mathematics, the German phrase is also open to other interpretations. It translates a little more correctly as, "God is clever, but not malicious."

If Professor Einstein, while formulating his thoughts, gazes through a certain window of Fine Hall upon the pleasant landscape surrounding it, he will see fashioned into an ornamental device upon its leaded windowpane one of his famous relativity formulae.

Eventually, when this new departure in education has proved itself, special buildings for it may be erected, but for the present the accent will be upon the few exceptional scholars and students who are being selected.

NEVER will the Institute for Advanced Study be surrounded by the conventional atmosphere of the ordinary university. It will have no student activities, no fraternities, no football team or other athletic endeavors.

Toward the trimmings of American academic life the director of the new institute, Dr. Abraham Flexner, has been highly critical. Many of the ideas that he expressed in his 1930 book, "Universities, American, English and German," are finding expression in the organization of the new Institute.

Race, creed or sex will have no influence in the conduct of the Institute for Advanced Study. The founders, Mr. Bamberger and Mrs. Fuld, laid down the principle that "in the appointment of the staff and faculty as well as the admission of workers and students no account shall be taken, directly or indirectly, of race, religion or sex."

And in the appointment of Professor Einstein, who is a Swiss citizen in spite of his long residence in Germany, there is evidence that political boundaries of nations will have no influence.

Dr. Flexner, in expressing "a very grave sense of responsibility" in his duties connected with the inauguration of the Institute, observed that "new foundations, starting as does this with a clean sheet, without commitments and without traditions, are not likely even in America to be frequent occurrences."

BECAUSE he is architect of this new educational institution, Dr. Flexner's previously expressed ideas are prophetic and are worth quoting from briefly here.

"Suppose we could smash our existing universities to bits," Dr. Flexner wrote in his book on universities, "suppose we could remake them to conform to our heart's desire, what sort of institution should we set up?"

"We should see to it somehow," Dr. Flexner answered in part, "that in appropriate ways scholars and scientists would be conscious of four major concerns: the conservation of knowledge and ideas; the search for truth; the training of students who will practice and 'carry on.'"

Confident that civilization which he calls "the great society" wishes to understand itself, partly as a matter of sheer curiosity and partly because human beings are in a muddle and cannot get out unless they know more than they now know, Dr. Flexner explained in his book why universities as he conceives them have an important place in the world.

THREE GREAT CHOICES CITED BY DR. WIEMAN

ORANGE, Jan. 27.—Ways in which adolescents respond to pressures and influences of the outside world were discussed last night by Dr. Regina Westcott Wieman, in the fourth of a series of talks at Orange Union High school, under auspices of City Council P.-T. A.

Dr. Wieman brought out that almost all young people have a sense of aloneness, although they may not show it outwardly. They are so anxious to be a part of the group, that they will take on habits foreign to their own personalities just to be included in activities. The young people are weighing their own standards against a great variety which they suddenly become aware of as they grow up, she said.

Pressures resulting from self discovery include the adolescent's fear of his own impulses and power. There is an increased pressure of the future on the boys and girls of today, because there can be very little vocational guidance at this time, the speaker said.

She named as the three great choices which the young person must make, his vocation, his mate and his philosophy of life. The boys and girls must make these choices and face the overwhelming magnitude of life despite the fact that they are fighting against a sense of limitation continually, she brought out.

Dr. Wieman will continue her series Thursday evening of next week.

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 25, 1933. Editor Register.

This note is addressed to my good friends in Santa Ana.

I just concluded reading Harry Carr's article on "Naming the Wind." Having known for some time that certain winds blowing in certain directions are oftentimes called Santanas, also that the residents of Santa Ana, whenever the occasion arises, take great pains to explain the origin and misnomer for these winds, it seems to me, if as Mr. Carr stated, the blaming of these offensive winds as coming from Santa Ana is very objectionable to the chamber of commerce, causes me to ask really what is Santa Ana noted for?

Is it for its glorious climate? Is it for its production of excellent citrus?

Is it a most attractive place to live? Or what are the honest to goodness good points?

If the local chamber of commerce would endeavor to place before the world all of the worth while reasons why Santa Ana is and what it will do for others, then misnomers such as Santanas and ill winds would soon be forgotten.

My point is, the time spent in defending might well be spent in prosecuting and telling the world all of the glories of your fair city.

BOOK REVIEWS PRESENTED FOR CLUB SECTION

ORANGE, Jan. 27.—A talk on the modern trend in writing was given by Mrs. Mabel Faulkner at a meeting of the Book Review section of the Orange Woman's club Wednesday. Mrs. Faulkner said that the tendency of many modern writers is to portray stark reality.

Mrs. Faulkner spoke of a number of books and especially of "The Fountain," which she said had been reviewed recently by Prof. E. M. Nealley, of Santa Ana. She quoted him as having said the volume was not a novel but a book of philosophy in which it was brought out that it was useless to try to dissociate one's self from surrounding life.

Mrs. Faulkner spoke on romantic books and of mysticism. Brief reviews of other books were given by Mrs. Anne Petersen, Mrs. Walter Pixley, Mrs. D. C. Pixley, Mrs. Dion Gardner, Mrs. J. R. Fletcher, Mrs. Fred Alden, Mrs. M. Tyrell, Mrs. Irving Goldfeder, Mrs. J. F. Rowell and Mrs. Frank A. Henderson, of Santa Ana.

Mrs. Faulkner, who is public librarian as well as the section president, introduced two new books, "The Flight of the Swan," a biography and autobiography of the dancer Pavlova written by her dancing partner of 10 years, Andre Oliveroff, and "The Sardinian Showdown."

TUSTIN P.-T. A. HEARS MINISTER

TUSTIN, Jan. 27.—"Social and Spiritual Adjustment of Our Adolescents" was the interesting theme discussed by the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, of Orange, at the regular monthly meeting of the High School P.-T. A. Thursday.

The speaker stressed the importance of children having the right sort of chums and the need of training children to be financially responsible and of giving them the right ideas and ideals about the home. The Rev. Mr. Minck was introduced by Mrs. J. L. Marshall, program chairman.

Mrs. Frank H. Greenwood, president, who presided, announced that the next meeting on February 23 will start at 2:30 p.m. instead of 3 p.m. Reports were given by Mrs. L. R. Stearns on the fathers' night dinner program held January 12 and by Mrs. J. Henry Pankey, membership chairman.

Piano solos were given by Miss Marjorie Knapp and Ralph Edes. Mrs. C. A. Nilsson gave a summary of the various articles in the last issue of the California Parent-Teacher magazine.

Mrs. Ruth Walker, hostess chairman, assisted by Mrs. E. E. Ulrich and Mrs. William Hutton, served tea and wafers to the 40 members and friends present.

SAINTS IN FINAL HOOP CONTEST

TROJANS, BEARS BEGIN CRUCIAL BASKET SERIES

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—Unsettled in league competition to date and tied in the race for the Pacific Coast conference, Southern division championship, basketball teams of Southern California and California meet here tonight in the first of a two-game series which may go a long way in determining the title winner.

They play on the Olympic auditorium floor at 8:30. The final two contests of their annual series being slated for Feb. 17 and 18 at Berkeley.

Southern California's 49-27 victory over U. C. L. A. last Saturday and California's 27-22 trouncing of Stanford indicate that the Trojan-Bear series will open with neither team the favorite and with the fastest and hardest fought basketball of the season in prospect.

The Southern Californians won all the way from the Bruins, holding a half-time lead of 25-15, but the Californians had difficulty in starting against the Indians, trailing 11-4 after 12 minutes of play and 14-13 at the end of the half. The Bears showed impressive strength in the second half, however, by holding the Stanford men to a single field goal, which was scored in the last minute of play.

A feature of the Trojan-Bear game this week-end is expected to be the individual battle for high scoring honors between Jerry Nemer and Hal Effert, star forwards of S. C. and Cal., respectively. Nemer leads at present with 48 points to 42.

Another bit of individual competition will be the battle for the tip-off between Lee Guttero of S. C. and Jack Read of California, who have outjumped all opposing centers so far. Although Read at six-three had a two-inch height advantage over Guttero, the Trojan center has tremendous spring and has so far out-leaped taller men. Both Southern California and California by getting the opening tip-off in previous games have been able to employ a deliberate ball control type of play and the battle for the center jump will be extremely important in the local championship contests.

CARDS, BRUINS BATTLE FOR CELLAR BERTH

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Holder of the cellar position in the Pacific Coast conference will be decided tonight when the Stanford basketball team meets the U. C. L. A. five here.

The Cards' opening lineup will comprise Cordry, Weaver, Topping, Tod and Hancock.

DEIHL, JOHNSON ON S. A. TEAM SUNDAY

Manager Carl Ruecker was busy today assembling his strongest lineup for Santa Ana's "big game" with Pasadena, Southern California league baseball leader, here Sunday afternoon.

Stuart Deihl, southpaw ace of the Santa Ana club, will be on the ridge against Wm. Bialow, Los Angeles. Coast leaguer, who has pitched Pasadena to the top of the standings.

Don Johnson, young Seattle infielder, will play second base for Ruecker's club.

BASEBALL COLLEGE TEACHERS

What with college stars and baseball training "colleges," the great old American pastime is going collegiate in a big way. The newest baseball "college" to be opened is one at Hot Springs, Ark., under the direction of Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals. Ray Don, former manager of the House of David baseball club, and George Sisler, former American league first baseman, Profs. Hornsby, left, and Sisler, right, are shown going over plans for the college with Dean Doan.

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport
By EDDIE WEST

A little bit about a lot of things:

Coach Bill Cook plans for his Santa Ana college gridiron trips to San Francisco and Utah. Sort of a Cook's Tour. Tennis. Queen Josephine Cruikshank is doing secretarial work in Los Angeles now, and her game may suffer through lack of practice. . . . Jimmie Heffron, silver-thatched Anaheim sports editor, used to play professional baseball in the east. . . . First competition of the season for Orange county high school and jaysve trackmen will come February 18 at San Bernardino's Orange Show Relay carnival. . . . Although it must win from Pasadena tonight to finish the conference season with 500 percentage, Santa Ana's basketball team is the best in the school's history and might have been league champion had the Saints' football season not been prolonged.

"Tex" Oliver says he isn't kidding himself about that Oregon State job. "If they want me they know where to find me," he says. . . . Coach "Chuck" Webber believes the Saints will have one of their very best years this season. Bruce Swishelm and Major Anderson will handle two of the legs. Floyd Montgomery probably will run a third, and the fourth may go to George Sommers, ex-junior high school flash. The Saint relay record for 880 yards. . . . 1:32.1—held jointly by the four-somes of '27 and '30, will be in danger when these boys begin motoring. . . . And speaking of records, "Big Jim" Daneri holds some kind of a record for records himself. Three Saint and five Don track and field records are in his name. Ray Hapes, Garden Grove's big-bound, shouldn't hurt that jaysve backfield a bit next fall. Ray isn't anywhere near as big as his 220-pound brother, Clarence, the ball player, but he is compactly constructed, plenty fast, exceedingly slippery. . . . Theron Keller, the Ingewood "killer" is going to U. S. C. and is hereby predicted.

Paul Berlenbach was a great word-pleaser. . . . That's what Dan Hickey, his manager, used to insist that they put on the placards. . . . they called Paul the Belting Beauty. . . . he never took a backward step. . . . the kind of a guy who would stand toe-to-toe and battle until one man dropped.

Money rolled in. . . . eight years ago he was one of the biggest shots in the cauliflower industry. . . . it was estimated he pouched out more than half a million dollars with his rugged fists. . . . he moved into a palace.

UP AND DOWN

Now he lives in a three-room flat in Astoria, Long Island. . . . and the other day he ankied into a newspaper office to insert the following ad: "Paul Berlenbach, ex-light heavyweight champion, wishes position as athletic instructor with private family; will also act as chauffeur."

At 22. . . . too old for further warring. . . . with some bonds on which are printed $1000. . . . but which are worth $8 apiece. . . . but woken into the story of the last eight years a few chapters in which this one and that one used the old Belting Beauty. . . . and parted him from some of that bankroll he earned pleasing the crowds.

"MOST DESERVING"

He had his heyday eight years ago. . . . Francis Albertanti then wrote: "If the fistic solons had to make an award for the most deserving ring gladiator for 1925 they would have no hesitancy

ORANGE LEAGUE LEADERS DRAW TOUGH RIVALS

ORANGE LEAGUE STANDINGS

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Orange	2	0	1.000
Brea-Olinda	3	0	1.000
San Juan Capistrano	2	1	.667
Tustin	2	1	.667
Huntington Beach	2	1	.667
Anaheim	0	3	.000
Newport Harbor	0	3	.000
Garden Grove	0	3	.000

Two of the Orange league's most important basketball games—both of vital importance to the standings' status of the undefeated Orange and Brea-Olinda quintets—will be played at 8 o'clock tonight.

Tustin's "Terrible Tillers," at full strength for the last time this year, go against Brea-Olinda in the Tustin gymnasium, while the ever dangerous San Juan Capistrano Missionaries come up from the south to see if they can beat Orange as they did under similar circumstances last winter.

Assured that lanky Herb Lawrence, as well as Charley Crumley, is eligible for one more start, Tustin is hopeful of breaking Brea-Olinda's grip on first place. Coach Bill Cook has rearranged his lineup for the contest. He will start Lawrence at forward along with Dean Francis, the rugged Wilson Seacord replacing Lawrence at center. Crumley and Charles Kiser will play guard. George Padias has been benched temporarily.

Brea-Olinda holds conference victories over Newport Harbor, San Juan Capistrano and Anaheim. The Wildcats also claim a 43-24 decision over Tustin, registered during the Southern Counties tournament at Huntington Beach. That one was closer than the score indicated as Tustin was leading, 30-29 with less than two minutes to play.

Coach Otis Hornaday of Brea has been experimenting with a fast-breaking attack that has yielded fine results but the secret of his success is said to be a "three-guard" defense, featuring Forward Arkie Slayton.

The Orange-Capistrano joust should be exceptionally close although Brea decided the Missionaries, 29-20. Orange will be slightly favored over Coach Stan Gould's club just as it was last season when Gould's gang gave the Orangemen their only spanking of the season.

Other games send Newport Harbor to Garden Grove, and Huntington Beach to Anaheim.

MICHIGAN STATE TO SIGN WYNNIE, BELIEF

EAST LANSING, Mich., Jan. 27.—(INS)—Following a meeting of the athletic council, it was intimated today that Chester Wynne, football coach at Alabama Polytechnic institute, will succeed James Crowley as head coach at Michigan State college.

Wynne, whose 1932 Alabama Poly eleven was unbeaten, would be a logical successor to Crowley inasmuch as both were schooled in the Notre Dame system of Knute Rockne.

Before going to Alabama Poly, where his contract expires next June, Wynne developed consistently winning teams at Creighton university.

"I should enjoy very much working here," Wynne declared before leaving last night for Chicago.

PARI-MUTUEL BILL AGAIN INTRODUCED

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—(INS)—A second bill to permit pari-mutuel betting at race courses in California was before the legislature today. It was offered by Assemblymen Charles Lyon and H. S. Haller of Los Angeles and J. J. McBride of Ventura, all of whose districts the proposition on the November ballot to allow horse-racing with betting in California carried two to one.

Leo Ostenberg On Seals' '33 Roster

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Leo Ostenberg, former Arizona-Texas league star, is the latest addition to the 1933 roster of the San Francisco Seals. Ostenberg, who hit .390 last season, has been signed as alternate first and third baseman.

Hour of Tustin Ace's Birth Decides Status

Because he was not born until 11:30 p. m. exactly 21 years ago today, Herb Lawrence, Tustin's star forward, will be eligible for Tustin's important conference basketball game with Brea-Olinda at Tustin tonight.

Asked for a ruling today, the C. I. F. governing board of prep athletics, declared Lawrence eligible until 11:30, the hour of his birth. The game will start at 8, and should be over before 10.

An all-conference selection last year, Lawrence is one of the best flormen in the league and his appearance in the lineup again gives the farmers an even chance to beat the undefeated Brea invaders.

Another Tustin player, Charley Crumley, plays his last time for the Tillers tonight. He graduates.

YOUNG TO BOX PETE GUTTEREZ HERE TUESDAY

Freddie Young, star of last week's bill, moves to the head of the class at Delhi Tuesday night.

The young Pico featherweight will main-event next week's boxing card, and his opposition will be the good, game Pete Gutterez of Wilmington who gave Champion Johnny Hines a very fair match on top last Tuesday.

Young's stirring triumph over Sailor Larry Pahl stole the show. Delhi customers hardly being prepared for such an upset. Pahl has been perhaps the sturdiest of all southside performers, week in and week out, but Young handled him without serious difficulty. His showing was so good in fact that Matchmaker Kid Mexico originally intended to shoot Young right back against Pahl, but changed his mind after the hard-hitting Gutterez stood up and slugged it out with the American champion, Hines.

The rest of the card:

Bill Wana, Westminster, vs. "Swede" French, Pico, 145 pounds. Raoul Solis, Delhi, vs. Frank Venegas, Anaheim, 128 pounds; Indian Jimmy Smith vs. Fred Lopez, 128 pounds; "Mooseface" Sapient vs. Paul Brown, 128 pounds; Jess Sanchez vs. Bill Manzo, 138 pounds; Al Ponce vs. Joe Dominguez, 118 pounds; "Tiger" Alacon vs. Fred Olevis, 120 pounds; Abe Serrano vs. Manuel Cruz, 115 pounds.

Kidder Ends Great Saint Prep Career

Allen Kidder, flaming-haired winner of 10 Santa Ana high school letters, completes three years of all-around athletic service for Santa Ana high school tonight. His appearance in the Saints' basketball lineup against Pasadena will be his last start as a prep athlete as he becomes a nine-semester student Monday.

A halfback on the football team at 15, Kidder was the youngest player ever to become a regular on a Saint eleven. He made three numerals in football, three in baseball and one in track, captaining both the football and baseball squads.

Al Rebin, making 10 letters, was the previous holder of the school's record.

Kidder becomes ineligible for further activity Monday but will not graduate until June. He has not made a collegiate choice.

BOXING 'CZAR' BILL UP TO LEGISLATURE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Based on the report of the assembly interim boxing committee, a bill regulating the boxing game in California was introduced in the legislature today by Assemblyman William Hornblower and Joseph Gilmore of San Francisco. The bill provides a boxing "czar."

The czar would be one of a boxing commission of three, named by the governor, as at present.

PASADENA GAME IS LAST FOR 8 S. A. REGULARS

Eight regulars—four in one combination, four in another—wind up their basketball careers at Santa Ana high school tonight against Pasadena in the tenth and final round of Coast Preparatory league play. Commencing at 8 o'clock in Andrews gymnasium, the varsity feature will be preceded by a Class B contest between the two institutions at 7.

Despite a 37-34 setback by the Bulldogs in the first round, Coach Bill Cook's Saints are slightly favored. Their recent games have indicated they have the strongest team in the school's history.

Allen Kidder and Francis Conrad, forwards; Walt Hendrie, center; Clair Preininger and Bob Wimbusch, guards, will start for Santa Ana. Of these only Hendrie will be back next season. Four other regulars—Ernie Acker and Weston Sprague, forwards; Bob Schwarm and Al Thielens, guards—bid farewell to the varsity tonight, also.

If Kidder, Conrad, Wiemer, Preininger and Acker, Santa Ana's point gatherers, are "hot," Pasadena will be in for considerable trouble. Otherwise, the Bulldogs should win comfortably. Much will depend on Guard Wimbusch, the Saints' defensive star.

Pasadena's record: First round—Alhambra 24, Pasadena 23; Pasadena 34, Glendale 23; Pasadena 27, Santa Ana 34. Second round—Glendale 30, Pasadena 27; Pasadena 24, Alhambra 21; Pasadena 31, San Diego 23; San Diego 34, Pasadena 20; Long Beach 31, Pasadena 14.

Santa Ana's record: First round—San Diego 35-33, Santa Ana 20-16; Santa Ana 28, Long Beach 25; Santa Ana 27, Glendale 28; Alhambra 32, Santa Ana 15; Pasadena 37, Santa Ana 34.

Second round—Long Beach 32, Santa Ana 18; Santa Ana 31, Glendale 16; Santa Ana 34, Alhambra 25.

Pasadena has scored 220 points, its opponents an identical number. Santa Ana has earned 224, its opponents 261.

Pasadena will employ a lineup of Wegge and Geddes, forwards; Vines, center; Captain Miller and Johnson, guards. Wegge plays a steady passing game, and Vines with his height will stand a good chance at center with Wiemer and Hendrie of the Saints. Vines is a brother of the world's famous tennis champion. The best defensive player on the Bulldog team is Captain Miller, who usually comes in for honors on offense, too. Miller has scored from 10 to 15 points in several league games.

CONFERENCE STATISTICS:

COAST PREPARATORY LEAGUE

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
San Diego	6	2	.750
Long Beach	5	2	.714

Pasadena	4	4	.500

SAN DIEGO, LONG BEACH PLAY FOR TITLE

With the conference title at stake, San Diego and Long Beach high schools meet in a doubleheader at San Diego tonight and tomorrow afternoon. Illness has riddled the powerful Hilltopper squad to such an extent during the past two weeks that Long Beach is conceded an even chance. Bob Chase, forward, will be among the missing San Diego players in the all-important series. His brother Irvin, a former Hilltop star, was killed in an automobile accident Tuesday. Harry Brunner, stellar guard, has been hampered in practice by a touch of the flu and colds have held back several members of the troupe. In addition, Long Beach has improved tremendously, as its 21-14 victory over Pasadena this week indicated.

CARNERA, SCHAAF GO HAS GARDEN IN AIR

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(UP)—Tony Canzoneri, lightweight titleholder, meets Billy Townsend a week from today at Madison Square Garden but his championship will not be at stake.

He was given the match yesterday with the provision he defend his title against a suitable opponent during March.

Meanwhile, Madison Square Garden was still in a quandry over what to do with the Carnera-Schaaf match scheduled for the same date.

Carnera's backers are trying to convince the Garden the new low prices effective for his fight were a mistake. The Garden has refused to grant Bill Duffy, one of the Italian's managers, a guarantee of $13,500.

Neither side has given in and Duffy has declared he will ask for a release from the contract which calls for a 25 per cent cut for his fighter.

SPORTS BULLETINS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 27.—(UP)—The Kansas City American association baseball club was sold today to a syndicate headed by E. Lee Keyser of Des Moines and Tris Speaker, famous outfielder.

In a downtown office here the contract was signed by which Keyser, Speaker and associates bought the franchise, players, equipment and a ten-year lease on Muehlebach field from George Muehlebach of Kansas City for a down payment of $40,000.

'GOOD FIELD, NO HIT' WAS MIKE'S SCOUT TRIP REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(INS)—The two most famous players Cuba has sent to the big leagues—Adolfo Luque and Miguel Gonzalez—were in the baseball news today, and thereby hangs a tale. They began their major league careers the same year, and almost ended them the same day.

The Giants announced they had signed Luque again as a relief was surprised to get another chance. He wasn't of much use to the club last year. But for Gonzalez it was curtains. The veteran catcher was given his unconditional release by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Luque and Gonzalez, who started

The hunter said, "Now, all keep still. I didn't now we'd have this thrill. The bear's still at the window. I will run and get my gun."

"Then, with my dog, outside I'll scout. It will not take me long to shoot. I only hope I get there ere the big bear starts to run."

"Now, don't get frightened! Just stay here and there'll not be a thing to fear." "I'll go with you," Scouty cried. "I'm not one bit afraid."

"Perhaps you'll let me fire your gun. I really think it would be fun. If I should hit the bear, just think, real his-try would be made."

They very shortly sneaked outside. "Oh, look, the bear is trying to hide," said Scouty. "Why, it acts real tame. Wait till I get some meat."

"We may not have to shoot at all. I'd hate to see the big bear fall. If that fine bear could be a treat."

Then Scouty found a piece of steak and to the hunter said, "I'll make just one attempt to feed the bear. You keep your gun all set."

The hunter said, "Be careful, son. This may not turn out so much fun." The other Tynies looked on, and they all began to fret.

As Scouty walked up to the bear, he cried, "I know it's tame. Look there! It has a collar on its neck. A chain is dangling down."

"Why, it's a circus bear, I'd say. It very likely ran away. I'll bet there's been a circus visiting in some near town."

The bear came from behind the tree. It seemed as friendly as could be. It walked right up to Scouty and began to eat the steak.

"Well, Scouty, you are very game," the hunter said. "The bear is tame. Just keep on feeding him that meat. A real friend you will make."

(The bear does a funny dance in the next story.)

District Legion Caucus At Balboa Tomorrow Night

SUPPORT FOR CANDIDATES TO BE CONSIDERED

More than a score of members of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion, together with Legionnaires from all other posts in the Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties are expected to attend a meeting of the twenty-first district of the Legion to be held at Balboa tomorrow night.

The meeting has been called by Herb Gray, commander of the district, of Huntington Beach. The purpose being to select a possible candidate for the district for state commander for the ensuing year.

At the same time, the twenty-second district which comprises San Diego and Imperial counties, is meeting in San Diego. This group also will select a probable candidate and then the two districts, which comprise the Fifth Area will hold a point meeting to select its candidate.

Several hundred Legionnaires and their wives and friends are expected to attend the meeting in this county, after which there will be a big Legion dance to be held at the Rendezvous ball room. The business session of the meeting will be held at the pavilion at Balboa.

Commander James B. Tucker will head the Santa Ana delegation to the meeting.

Wrong Impression
Obtained, Asserts
School Board Head

George Wells, chairman of the board of education, did not intend to give the impression that it will become necessary shortly to vote a bond issue to provide separate quarters and adequate accommodation for the junior college students because of the present crowded condition, he said today in commenting on a story of the meeting of the Rotary club Tuesday when he spoke.

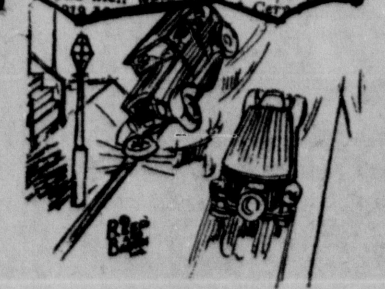

Wells, in his address before the Rotary club, outlined the school bond situation and told of the growth of the schools and of the annually increasing number of students in Santa Ana schools. Persons present at the meeting understood him to make the statement that it would be necessary to vote a bond issue to care for the crowded condition at the college by obtaining separate quarters.

STABILITY OF
CANADIAN BANKS IS EXPLAINED

Canada has no bank failures because of the national laws which prevent chartered banks from engaging in any business but banking and because they are not permitted to make loans on real estate, according to the Hon. S. C. Tweed, member of the Canadian parliament from Toronto, who spoke to members of the Kiwanis club at their meeting last night.

Discussing the tariff situation as it exists between the United States and Canada, a speaker declared that high tariffs created more ill will between the two nations than any other thing. He advocated the adoption of an agreement between the two nations to lower tariffs on both sides, pointing out that both countries produce commodities which could be used to mutual advantage.

He outlined briefly the banking system in Canada, declaring that while there are but nine banks in the nation, some of them have as many as 1500 branches. Because the banks are not permitted to make loans on real estate, he said, their assets do not become frozen as did many United States banks particularly in the middle west.

He said that while in the United States that was usually asked three leading questions: about government sale control of liquor in Canada; why Canada has placed a tariff on oranges when the country does not raise them and why Canada is interested in the war debt question.

He did not touch on the liquor question, but spoke on the other two.

Canada and Debts
"Canada," he said, "is not directly interested in the war debt question. During the war Canada spent $2,000,000,000 on the war. She has a heavy annual pension payment, which, however, is not as liberal as the United States. Canada has paid every war obligation 100 cents on the dollar."

"Recently there has been much discussion of the tariff problem. Certain newspapers have stirred up ill will between the two countries. Some of our papers and English papers were unkind enough to dig up the particulars of state bonds in eight or ten states in the United States which had been repudiated. One editor computed the value of these repudiated bonds and found it to be $5,000,000.

Why not, he suggested, apply that on the war debt payment. Leaders, however, pointed out that the United States government does not assume responsibility for the financial obligations of the states. "The area of Canada is about the same as the United States, but we have only 10,000,000 people. The climate is a little more rigorous than yours. With such a small population, we have three transcontinental railroads. We have the governmental facilities and all a civilized people could desire to take care of three times our population, so the taxation burden is great."

"We produce grain and many other things way beyond our needs. Wheat is raised clear up to the Arctic circle, where 22 hours of sunlight in the summer matures the grain rapidly. This territory used to be a great cattle country before the United States tariff ended the industry. At the same time, a representative in congress from California made the boast that provisions had been written in the Fordney tariff bill to protect every product of California. Statements of this nature stir up resentment, so parliament slapped on tariffs on many United States articles that formerly were free. One of these was oranges, which were taxed for revenue. The result was, of course, that the Canadian consumer of oranges paid more for them."

Business Ruined
In June, 1930, the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill became effective and ruined the dairy business in the provinces of Quebec and Ontario which had been supplying milk and cream to New York and the surrounding area.

"This led to the demand for trade agreements of various sections."

Beware the Cough or Cold that Hangs On

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

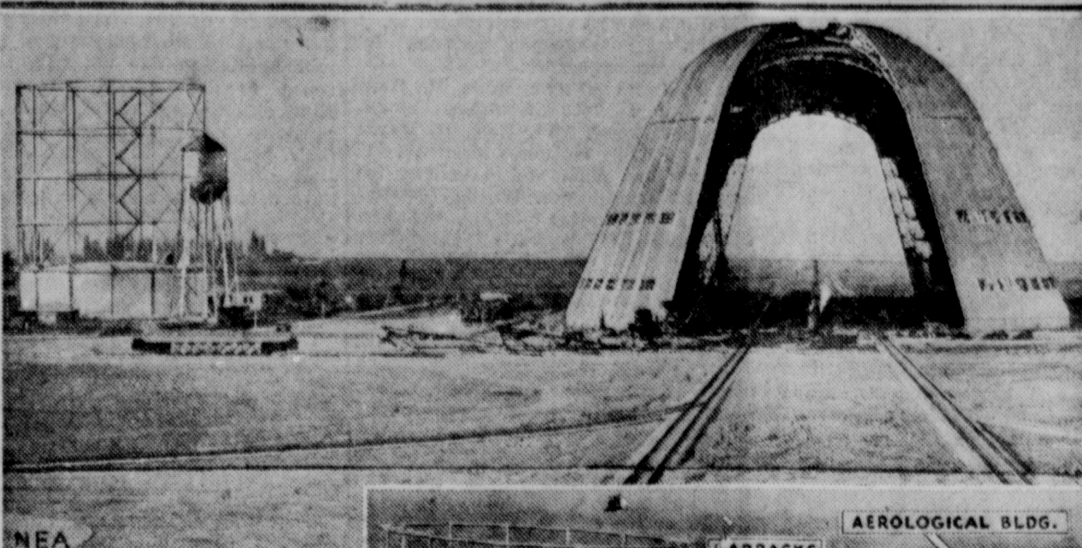

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

REHEARSAL FOR LIGHT OPERA
SET TONIGHT

Singers interested in the newly organized Orange County Light Opera association will report for rehearsal at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Foster-Barker music store, 394 West Fourth street.

Ellis Rhodes, formerly director of the old Orange County Choral Union, will meet new members in order to assign parts for title roles of the opera, "Martha," which will be produced the last week of April. The roles of the opera to be given are: Lady Harriet Durham, maid of honor to Queen Anne, soprano; Nancy, her friend, mezzo-soprano; Sir Tristan Mickleford, Lady Harriet's cousin, bass; Plunkett, a wealthy farmer, bass; Lionel, his foster-brother and afterwards Earl of Derby, tenor; the sheriff of Richmond, bass; three servants of Lady Harriet, tenor and two basses; three maid servants, sopranos and mezzo-soprano. The chorus consists of ladies, servants, farmers, hunters, pages, etc.

The Orange County Light Opera company is an organization made up of singers residing in Orange county. There are no dues, but an addition for membership is required. Further information may be obtained by calling Rhodes, telephone 1909, Santa Ana.

Members of the British Empire, out of which grew the Ottawa conference. The agreements reached at the conference affected 262 items.

"Our government believes in a high protection instead of decreasing tariff. Preference was given British Empire products by increasing the tariff on goods from the United States. I don't know of anything that creates as much ill will between countries as a high tariff. The natural place for Canada to do business is with the United States, and it also works the other way."

The speaker was introduced by Dr. M. C. Mabbee.

FEDERAL AID
AVAILABLE FOR HOME BUILDERS

Both the Santa Ana Building and Loan association and the Southwest Building and Loan association have made application for membership in the Federal Home Loan bank of Los Angeles as it becomes possible for the bank to really function through the legislation passed by the state legislature. With the signature of Governor Rolph affixed to the bill which will permit home financing agencies to acquire stock in the bank and participate in its benefits, obstacles have been removed which formerly prevented them from utilizing the bank's facilities and will enable them to borrow on their eligible home mortgages and make available considerable sums for home repairs and other purposes.

The action will do much to revive purchasing power and stimulate real estate activity in Santa Ana and throughout the state, according to W. F. Duffy, executive vice president of the Federal Home Loan bank at Los Angeles.

"Some idea of the stimulus which the bank may give to business may be had from the knowledge that building and loan associations, as one class of institution defined as eligible for advances from the Home Loan bank, have loaned out about $324,000,000 in the state on real estate mortgages," Duffy said. "It is impossible to say just what proportion of these mortgages are acceptable for rediscut in the bank. If but $100,000,000, or less than one-third of the total, could be released at this time through the proper channels, the immediate purchasing power represented by this vast sum cannot do otherwise than stimulate business and hasten return to normalcy."

"Some of our troubles today are due to the fact that purchasing power is curtailed on account of the impossibility to realize on assets which are absolutely good and of unquestioned soundness but which under present conditions are frozen. The Home Loan bank is intended as a source through which such assets can be liquidated while it is not intended that this bank should be a dumping ground for worthless assets that other institutions may wish to unload nor for impossible or insufficiently secured loans which individuals may offer to it, nevertheless in performing its functions in a legitimate and conservative way, the bank can contribute its share, and this would be a very large share, toward helping times onto a normal basis."

He couldn't raise the money so he surrendered at the jail yesterday and was locked up. He was arrested several days ago, charged with speeding on Santa Ana boulevard.

Y. W. Conference Plan Is of County-wide Importance

Plans were being completed today by the Santa Ana Y. W. C. A. to entertain association workers from all sections of Orange County Y. W. C. A. leaders conference to be held in the local clubhouse all day Tuesday, January 31.

Program Plans

A program of valuable discussions and addresses on different features of the work will be launched Tuesday at 10 o'clock when devotionals will be led by Orange group. Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, will be the first speaker and at 12:30 o'clock will talk on "The White House Commission," a subject closely allied to association interests. "Getting Acquainted with the Y. W. C. A. in Orange County" will follow, and at 11:15 o'clock the audience will be divided into smaller groups to discuss various problems which each association has to meet.

Leaders of these group discussions have not yet been named, but subjects will include "How to Recruit Volunteer Leaders," "Finance," "How to Carry a Share in Public Affairs," and "How to Secure and Interest Membership." These different discussions will close only with the luncheon hour at 12:30 o'clock when conference heads will re-assemble around small tables in the dining room.

Miss Edith Stanton of Los Angeles, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. of that city and vice-president of the National Association, will be presented as the afternoon speaker. She has announced as the subject of her address, "Actions of the National Convention in Minneapolis, and How to Relate Them to Local Programs."

New Y. W. Board

With Mrs. Henderson are associated E. L. Morris, first vice-president; Miss Lena Thomas, second vice-president; Miss Carol Skrine, recording secretary; Miss Mabel Larrick, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Marie Fowler, treasurer.

Remaining members of the 1932 board include Mesdames W. Maxwell Burke, C. G. Dowds, Leta Morton, W. B. Williams, S. B. Kaufman, Charles Swanner, Frank Henderson, P. F. Schrock, O. H. Ege, T. R. ## Beaucant Launches Benefit Series Auspiciously

The opening entertainment in a series of card functions planned by the ways and means committee of the Social Order of the Beaucant, of which Mrs. J. W. Hancock is chairman, was successfully presented Wednesday by the women of this order in the Masonic temple.

More than 40 women gathered for the benefit affair, which took form as a dessert bridge, at which hostesses were women of the ways and means committee, Mesdames Hancock, R. W. McKnight and A. R. Muller, and Mrs. Verne Whitson, in charge of tickets. Assisting this group with the duties of serving were Mesdames B. E. Dawson, P. L. Tope and W. H. Thomas. Sweet peas and maidenhair fern were combined to form lovely centerpieces, this decoration being achieved by Mrs. John Shaw.

While Wednesday's prizes were captured by Mrs. Clara Johnson, high; Mrs. A. Hill, second high, and Mrs. Henry Diers, low, party patrons were informed that a grand award awaited the bridge player whose score topped all others at the close of the series. The next event, scheduled for February 25, will be colonial in motif, the committee disclosed.

Rebekah Folk Schedule Valentine Function

February 8 will mark the date of a Valentine party and pot luck dinner which women of the Rebekah lodge planned at a meeting of their organization Wednesday night in the I. O. O. F. hall.

The lodge session was called prior to the public card party to which the Teresa order stood sponsor. Arrangements for bridge party were directed by Mrs. Maude Swarthout and Mrs. Allie Cain, with Mrs. Maude Lentz supervising the serving of refreshments.

Card rewards were distributed between leading scorers at bridge and 500, winners at the former being Mrs. F. F. Lamar and Mrs. Richardson; Henry Pankey and Mr. Richardson; and at the latter game, Mrs. James Ryan and Mrs. H. P. Allcott and Mr. Francis. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson are Pennsylvania residents wintering in Santa Ana.

Goodwin Watercolors To Be Placed on Exhibition

Signaling the opening of an exhibition of California landscapes in pastel by Jean Goodwin, young Santa Ana artist, is an informal reception to be tendered Miss Goodwin on Sunday afternoon in the galleries of Keith and Gladys Southard, 4030 Beverly boulevard, Los Angeles, where her pastels are to be on display daily until February 12.

Miss Goodwin, whose talents and abilities have been recognized by Santa Anans familiar with her work, has been forging rapidly to the front as one of the younger California artists of rare promise. Her illustrations for the Harrington edition of "Chimichichin," issued by Santa Ana Junior college press under the direction of T. E. Williams, have given her wider recognition so that the fortnight's display of her landscapes bids fair to attract unusual attention among connoisseurs and critics.

It will offer the first public showings of the pastels, which are said to be characterized by fine composition, unusually interesting color effects, and a strength manifested in direct handling of simple forms. Following Sunday's opening reception, the galleries will be open to the public every day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. up to and including Saturday, February 12, the closing day.

Church Banquet Given In Interests of College

More than 130 members of the First Christian church took part in a banquet held there last night in the interests of the California Christian college at Los Angeles. Young people of the church thus had the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the college's plan of education, and of contributing to the fund for its maintenance.

A. W. Gerrard, a member of the college board of directors, was in charge of arrangements for the banquet. C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, who was instrumental in establishing the Los Angeles institution several years ago, was speaker of the evening.

Musical during the evening was furnished by the Christian College quartet.

Sweet peas, hyacinths and ferns were used in decorating the tables for the occasion. Mrs. T. D. Knights, president of the Ladies' Aid, and her committee, prepared the delicious dinner. Boys of Mr. Gerrard's Sunday school class served.

An interesting slide of China was pictured for the nurses by Miss Grace Z. Lentz of El Modena, who recently returned to this country after a period of more than eight years of active missionary-nursing in the hospitals of China.

The district nurses were informed that Terry Stephenson of this city would address the next meeting on "Old California History." The nurses will convene February 17 and will have as their guests members of the Orange County Medical association.

Calvary Church

An interesting talk on missionary work being conducted among the Mayan Indians in Yucatan, Mexico, was given by Mrs. L. L. Legters, at Thursday's meeting of Calvary Woman's Missionary society held at the home of Mrs. R. Earl Elliot, 1212 North Rose street. ## Two Santa Ana Artists Are Represented at Pasadena Exhibit

Social interest is being manifested by Santa Anans in the current exhibition of the Pasadena Art Institute on Colorado street in the Southland city, because of the fact that two local men, Burr Shafer and Robert Gilbert, are represented in the exhibit.

Avowedly seeking for a "new expression of art," the heads of the institute have made the current exhibition one of special interest to artists and the public alike, and those who have seen the canvases have returned loud in their praises of the results. Both Burr Shafer and Robert Gilbert have made great strides in painting as a means of expression in the past few years.

Shafer studied under Miss Anna A. Hills at Laguna Beach, and at first found his interest in the many spots of beauty along the Orange coast line. More recently he has been developing another form, and the picture which was accepted for hanging in the Art Institute exhibit, very well exemplifies the later trend. Titled "Lizet Etude in D Flat," it presents a study of the black and ivory keyboard of a piano with exquisitely modelled musician's hands resting on the keys. The arrangement, color values and light effects are as original as the subject, and combine to form an unusually interesting composition.

The same thing might well apply to the canvas representing Robert Gilbert, which portrays one of the strong and virile industrial subjects which he has found so interesting—and made equally interesting for those familiar with his work.

Since the exhibit was a state wide one, with artists from every section submitting canvases for the approval of the judges, it is considered significant that the two young Santa Ana men should succeed where many of riper experience and wider fame failed.

The pictures will remain on display until February 1 and have attracted crowds of interested on-lookers throughout the month of January.

Organized Societies Plan Barbecue

WEST COAST OFFERS TWO BIG PICTURES

Two big pictures come today to the Fox West Coast theater, to play through tomorrow night. "Airmail," one of the most thrilling pictures of the year and "A Successful Calamity," George Arliss' latest offering should prove unusual entertainment.

Pat O'Brien and Ralph Bellamy have the leads in "Airmail," but the picture is built on thrills. George Arliss was never better than in his latest screen production. He portrays the part of a millionaire who, in order to find out what his family really thinks of him, pretends to have lost his money in Wall street.

CHAPTER XXV

Mona Moran, receptionist in a Wall Street law office, is in love with Barry Townsend, rich and socially prominent, whom she met through Steve Saccarelli, her childhood sweetheart.

Steve and Barry have just returned from South America where—largely by chance—Steve became associated with Barry in operating a diamond mine, once believed worthless but now valuable. Steve owns a huge diamond called "The Empress of Peru." Gangsters try to steal the stone but he outwits them. Steve has earned Mona's gratitude by befriending her errand brother, Bud, sending him to South America and giving him a job in the mine. Mona needs $500 for hospital treatment for her invalid father. Her employer agrees to loan her the money and then makes an amazing proposal. He tells Mona a wealthy client of the firm wishes to marry her immediately with the understanding she shall occupy her own apartment, have unlimited charge accounts and do whatever she wishes for a year. At the end of that time she may become the man's wife in actuality or secure a divorce. She asks the man's name and is told it is Barry Townsend.

Mona agrees. Her friend, Lottie Carr, fashion model, goes with her to the Townsend home. There Mona learns it is Barry's uncle of the same name, whom she is to marry. Young Barry and Steve have both sailed for South America. Having given her word, Mona goes through with the ceremony. She and Lottie depart immediately.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Mona was relieved to find that her mother accepted the sudden marriage without question. "Marriage?" she cried delightedly when Mona arrived at the flat and told her the news. "Sure and I thought something was up when you two girls got your heads together. Who is it now—Steve?"

Mona shook her head. "Oh, not Steve, Mother! It's Mr. Townsend."

"Barry?" Ma had heard of Barry many times. He had figured frequently in Mona's telephone chats with Lottie. Steve, too, had often spoken of him when visiting the little flat.

"No, not Barry. At least not the Barry you mean. I married his uncle, John Barnett Townsend, the banker."

"John Barnett Townsend, the banker! And no wedding trip? Let me see your ring."

The rings, both of them, were displayed and brought exclamations of admiration from Mrs. Moran.

"I'll tell you all about it, Mother," Mona explained over the ever-ready cup of tea. "Mr. Townsend is ill. He asked me to marry him immediately. He had been around the office quite a bit."

Ma stirred her cup contentedly and pushed a plate of rolls toward Mona. "And you met him there," she supplied.

"He's a great friend of Mr. Garretson's," Mona went on. "He was ill—Mr. Townsend, I mean—and he wanted the wedding to take place right away. I didn't call you up because I wasn't sure myself. I didn't want to upset you! But when—"

"When you saw the poor man lying there, sick and all, you couldn't refuse. That's my girl, all over! Kindhearted!" Mrs. Moran stopped talking and scrutinized Mona fixedly. "Do you love him, Min?" she asked.

For answer Mona rose from her seat and began moving nervously about the room. "Mother! Do you think I would marry him because I felt sorry for him?"

"Girls have queer reasons these days, I'll be bound," her mother answered. "Still and all, Min, you looked happy enough when you came in. I won't worry you."

"I am happy—enough, Ma. My husband" (unconsciously she used the phrase) "is a good man. He's kind and he's rich. He's generous, too! I'll be able to see Dad through all the treatment he requires! And I can do so many things for the rest of you."

"You always do that, Min."

But later, when Mona unfolded a hastily devised plan for the welfare of her family, Mrs. Moran was not enthusiastic.

"A little house in the country, Min?" she repeated. "Flowers? Birds? A porch to sit on afternoons?"

"I thought it would be so nice, Ma. I can afford it now. Nice friends for Kitty and a place for Dad when he's stronger."

Her mother considered. "But Min, dear, we are comfortable here."

"I suppose so," Mona agreed. "But the country, Mother! I'd love to find you a home in the country. I have money, plenty of it—"

"Listen, Min, a little money to run the house, like you always gave me, is enough." Her mother's eyes swept the small flat lovingly.

"Maybe some new linoleum for the kitchen. Maybe some new blankets. Buy Kitty the new shoes she's been pestering me for. With the money you always gave, Min, and what Dad sends we'll get on fine. But don't take us away from here. Min. This is home!"

There were tears in Mrs. Moran's eyes. "We'd rather stay here and listen to the neighbors talking about how grand the new linoleum is and our new hats! I want Mrs. Callahan to see you sweeping up to the door. Did you come in your car today, Min?"

"A taxi, Mother."

Her mother waved a deprecating hand. "Car or taxi, it's all the same." Mrs. Moran's face was innocently eager. "I could get the Donahue baby one of those jumpers. Mrs. Callahan and I—"

"I see," Mona told her simply, patting her mother's shoulder. And she did see. Ma was quite right. She was happy here. In the sort of home in the country on which Mona had set her heart for her father and mother how happy would they be?

"All right, if that's what you want, Ma," promised Mona. She slid her arms into her new coat and adjusted the collar before Ma's little mirror. She smiled back at its reflection as she pulled her hat a wee bit to the right.

"I—we are staying at the Ritz now, Ma," Mona told her mother, stooping to kiss her as she left. "In a few days my address will be—here I'll write it." She scribbled as legibly as she could with a gloved hand. "And here's the phone number. You won't need it except in case of trouble because I'm going to drop in every day if I possibly can."

Ma considered again. "Your husband—will be like that, Min? We're simple people—"

"Mother! I told you my husband is a good man!"

From the corner where Mona sent groceries. She paused in the butcher shop to select a roast and some fresh eggs to be sent to the Morans, paying for them with new bills that crackled suggestively.

She and Lottie had agreed on dinner at 7:30. Lottie, arriving just before six, found Mona comfortably ensconced in a becoming negligee, her bronze hair shining in the lamp light like a halo.

"I'm trying to decide what to send Mother," Mona said, putting aside paper and pencil and rising, her exquisite robe fluttering about her slender figure.

"You couldn't join me in a date, I suppose?" Lottie asked carelessly. Mona's voice was tinged with sarcasm. "Hardly. You know that perfectly well."

Lottie shrugged. "Well, you might just as well have gone to prison. It's a fine honeymoon you're having!" She drew a yellow envelope from her purse and handed it to Mona. "I sent a radiogram to Barry in your name," she confessed. "Guess I should have saved my time."

Hairbrush in hand, Mona wheeled from the mirror, her face white. "You didn't!"

"I did—or rather, you did!" Lottie held the yellow envelope toward Mona who read: "S. S. MIRANDA at Sea. Mrs. Moran Townsend (in care of Lottie's address)."

Barry too ill to answer. Hardly see how it could be mistake. Hope you wore the necklace. A year is a long time—STEVE."

Mona scanned Lottie's face. "What did you say in that wire, for heaven's sake?"

"Why, I just told Barry that it was a mistake. I said in a year he'd understand. He probably thinks you married his uncle for his money. Jackson told me Barry and his uncle had a terrific row—"

"You've been talking to the chauffeur again!"

Lottie's eyes grew rounder. "Mona! You told him yourself to come for me tonight at Pilgrim's. Anyhow, there were a lot of things I had to clear up."

"What things?" asked Mona sharply.

"He didn't tell me much," Lottie went on ruefully. "Jackson doesn't get into the house very often. This morning at about 10 when I was hanging around the dressing room waiting for orders I telephoned Jimmy. Today was his day off and he met me during lunch hour."

"Oh, how could you!" Lottie shrugged again. "Mona, you're tired and nervous. I don't blame you but listen! Jimmy said Barry told his uncle he wanted to marry you. His uncle wouldn't give his consent. They argued about money and Barry said he couldn't let Steve finance the mine. His uncle said, 'Give the mine to Steve and stay home where you belong. Marry that Dower girl!'"

"Barry said he wouldn't. He said 'I'll marry Mona.' The old man said, 'Maybe she won't have you when she finds out you won't get any money. Those girls will marry anyone with enough cash.' Barry got mad at that and said, 'I suppose you think she'd even marry you!'"

The old man said, 'With enough money, yes.' That was your legally wedded spouse's answer."

For several moments neither spoke. Mona tore the yellow envelope into bits slowly. "Well, I married him," she said. "I wonder if Mr. Garretson knew all this."

"No," Lottie returned. "I asked about that particularly. Old Townsend just put up to Garretson that he wanted to marry you. It seems he'd seen you at lunch or something."

Mona nodded. "Yes," she said. She sat down, the yellow scraps falling unheeded to the floor. "That," she said presently, "is that!"

"Buck up, Min! It's just a year and then Reno."

"Reno? And after that—?"

"A year is a long time," Lottie said, unconsciously quoting the radiogram. "We'll think of something to be done in a year."

But as usual it was Fate that stepped in and decided the matter. (To Be Continued)

TIMID CHILD DISCUSSED IN BEACH LECTURE

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 27.—A speaking Thursday in the Newport Harbor Union High school on the topic, "The Child Who is Shy or Timid, and the Child Who is Inferior," Mrs. Regina H. Westcott Wieman stated that the sensitive child, the child with keen senses, has the best opportunity to really succeed.

She stressed the point that it has been discovered that the human body has at least 10 distinct senses as against the belief several generations ago that the senses of seeing, smelling, hearing, tasting and feeling constituted the total. Definitely added to this list now are the senses of heat, cold, pressure, pain, and the muscular and organic senses, stated the speaker, and in all probability there will be as many more discovered in the future.

Mrs. Wieman declared that too many young and middle-aged people are seeking contentment, by adding to the fact that cards, dancing, movies, sports and auto-ing, which are all mentally non-active pastimes, are quite popular. It was announced that Mrs. Wieman will appear twice more at the Newport Harbor Union High school, February 2 and February 9, speaking on both occasions to the high school student body. The next lecture on the adult course will be given on Thursday, February 9 in the "Little Theater," room 208 of the school building.

Mrs. Maude Wilde, chairman of the welfare committee of Women's clubs, will bring the message, speaking on the topic, "Sex Education for Children."

It was announced that a nursery will continue to be provided with a competent woman in charge.

Mrs. J. R. McClure, of Balboa Island, was in charge of the meeting.

Costa Mesa merchants donated many lovely prizes as well as a portion of the refreshments.

Women's first prize in bridge was won by Mrs. E. A. Rea, while E. A. Rea captured the men's first. Second high was won by Mrs. Marvin Wilcox and Bob Fuller and Miss Mildred Dack won the consolation prize. Winners in "500" were Mrs. Stella Cain and W. D. Ball. Mrs. Frank Wells received the door prize, Mrs. J. G. Tugwell of Long Beach won one of the special prizes. Miss Alice Plume and Mrs. Ray Wallace won novelty prizes.

start creaming it, adding sugar gradually until the whole is a fluffy mass. Shove the creamed mass to one side, drop in the egg yolks and whip quickly with egg beater, gradually working in the creamed sugar.

Add baking powder and salt to sifted flour and mix with the creamed part, adding milk alternately. Flour the dates and nuts very lightly and work them in, also the vanilla. Whip the whites very stiff and cut them in last of all. Bake in a tube pan about one hour, top to be covered when brown.

If the dates and nuts are heated in oven before flouring, they will not be so apt to sink to the bottom of the cake during baking.

A small slice of this cake has a calory value of 250. They are energy and fat makers, and not for the dieting individual nor the Pleasingly Plump.

Saturday: French Ice Cream, a fine way to us up egg yolks left from Angel Food Cake.

Trustees Oppose School Fund Cut

WESTMINSTER, Jan. 27.—A letter to members of the assembly committee has been dispatched by the Westminster school board, asking that no cuts be made in school apportionment.

The letter states that a cut in the school budget of the state would not lessen the tax rate for the property owners of the state, any amount taken from the schools being transferred to another state department budget. This would leave the burden of the school taxes on the counties and would thus add to the tax payers' burden, the letter stated.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief With Kellogg's
ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

By VERA RAMSEY

The complexity of the relations of the United States to the Pacific are of long standing. As we read the currents today we can see that they are growing no less complicated. In the light of this fact, "America in the Pacific" by Foster Rhea Dulles becomes of extraordinary interest.

This book is a survey of the present-day interests of the United States in the Pacific. It covers the westward expansion on the continent, early relations with China and Japan, and the acquisition of Samoa, Hawaii, and the Philippines.

Mr. Dulles takes up the successive steps establishing our position in that ocean which, three quarters of a century ago, Seward declared would be the "chief theater of events in the world's hereafter." There is a full account of the forces behind each new instance of expansion, of our relations with the peoples of the new territories, and of the negotiations or other measures through which the acquisitions were consummated.

The book is especially important in the light it sheds upon three conspicuous and timely matters. The author discusses our ambition to dominate the Pacific as a background to our present assistance upon our rights in China and to our rivalry with Japan. In the second place we read of our early relations with the Hawaiians and their bearing upon present conditions in Honolulu. Finally we have the history of our relationship with the Philippines in connection with the present congressional hearings on Philippine independence.

The author of this book has delved deep into documents for evidence to support the theory of manifest destiny. He shows, in a fair and objective way, the genesis and formation of our imperialism. The book is history, such as satisfies technical historians. However, its authority detracts not the least from its readability. It is no dry compilation of facts that Mr. Dulles gives us in tracing the development of the Pacific policy. He has an eye for the picturesque and a sense of humor. Especially interesting are the chapters on Hawaii.

Our relations with Europe are no less puzzling than the problems of the Pacific. Frank H. Simonds will be remembered for his book "Can Europe Keep the Peace?" His new volume, "Can America Stay at Home?" discusses America's position with regard to European affairs.

He asks the question, "Can America continue to eat her cake and have it too? Throughout all the years since the Treaty of Paris, the administration in Washington has told the American people how fortunate they were in escaping the Wilsonian pitfall—the League of Nations. Our statesmen have made political capital of our fears, safe in the assurance that we knew our position in world affairs to be one of independent security. On the other hand, our representatives have time and time again invited the statesmen of Europe into solemn conference to establish equity among nations and a lasting peace on earth. Our diplomats, our financiers, our presidents—one after the other they have presented their panaceas for the consideration of the ambassadors of France, Italy, Germany, England, Japan, and the other sovereign nations.

Now, after ten years of listening to American proposals for peace, our foreign conferees have come to believe that we are a nation either of children or of unscrupulous self-seekers. Tracing the progress of our diplomatic endeavors year by year, they are inclined to the first description. The author believes that no reasonable American, looking honestly at the record, can doubt the ground for their suspicion.

The time has come for America to take stock of her foreign policy and to determine once and for all whether she wishes to take her place among world powers or whether she wishes to withdraw once again into her century-old isolation.

We may think that our own age is filled with unsolvable problems. The people of other periods were confronted with their difficulties also. In "The Memoirs of Cornelius Cole" we read of the early days of California, of the rebellion, and of the reconstruction period.

Cornelius Cole came west in the early days of the gold rush. He tells of Sutter's fort, of the Embarcadero, of gold dust, and of the varieties of people that made up Sacramento in those days. Later he left the mines and went to San Francisco where he established a law practice.

He tells of the beginnings of political parties in California. Many of their policies had to do with the growing dissension over slavery between the northern and southern states. There were discussions over the Fugitive Slave law, the Dred Scott case, and other problems connected with the Civil war.

He tells also of the Pacific railroad and of the part played by Henry E. Huntington. His narrative includes the names of many other men who were prominent in the early history of California. We read of Leland Stanford, Edward Stanley, and General Banning.

Cornelius Cole was not the least important among men of the time. He represented California as a Congressman during the Civil War. Later he represented the state in the Senate. He had a successful term and played a major part in helping to develop California into the important state that it is today.

It is of utmost interest to every inhabitant of the state of California to read of its beginnings as told in these readable memoirs.

DR. LORENZ ON INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Twenty-five years ago, Dr. Lorenz, the eminent Viennese bloodless surgeon came to this country to set the bones of a child of a rich Chicago family. His success in that operation made his name a household word in the United States. He ministered to many poor families without charge. His expert service was dedicated to humanity.

Dr. Lorenz is now an old man. He is now making a visit to this country where his fame has become great. On his arrival, he was interviewed by a reporter of a New York paper. He was asked about the mental hazards of one who had had infantile paralysis. The reporter evidently had in mind the case of President-elect Roosevelt. It certainly was re-assuring to the American people to have such an eminent authority say that in all the cases of infantile paralysis that had come under his observation he had never seen any evidence of direct or indirect effect upon the mental faculties of its victims.

If the pronouncement of this eminent surgeon had not been made, we would have been convinced of that fact by the campaign made by the President-elect last fall. It has been an open secret that the grapevine gossip was set going that Mr. Roosevelt was not physically fit for the duties of the presidency by reason of his affliction. It was even hinted that it had its effect upon his mental faculties. The campaign through the country from coast to coast, and from the lakes to the gulf, was planned to disabuse the minds of the people who might be influenced by this gossip of the physical limitations of the Democratic candidate.

Yet it is reassuring to have the most eminent surgeon in the world make the pronouncement which he has made. Upon the incoming president will be placed responsibilities and burdens such as few presidents, save Lincoln, have borne. For those responsibilities and burdens he will need physical strength and mental power of the highest order. We have now every evidence that Mr. Roosevelt possesses the needed qualities to carry the weight of his high office. His is now the most important life in the United States, and the people owe it to him as well as to themselves to save him from all activities not directly connected with the high service which he has been called upon to render to his country and the whole world.

A STRIKE, ITS CAUSES AND RESULTS

A strike in the Briggs Manufacturing Company's plant in Detroit has thrown 100,000 men out of employment, 40,000 men of the Ford company in the Detroit area, and 60,000 throughout the country, according to dispatches. The Briggs Manufacturing Company is one of the companies which supplies bodies for Ford cars. The Ford officials declared they could not continue their plant in operation without bodies, and lack of parts for the bodies manufactured by the Briggs plant for the Murray corporation forces the Ford plant to close.

The cause for this strike is an interesting comment on modern efficiency. Usually strikes are due to matters of wages, or piece work, or hours of labor, and in some cases they have been in regard to sanitary conditions or protective apparatus. But this strike is over the question of deductions made for time which is taken from the workers' pay slip, for the period that the worker uses in going from one part of the plant to another part, or where he is stopped for a period by shortage of material, or a breakdown, or stoppage of the machinery.

The employees claim that these conditions reduced their income very considerably. We know nothing about the merits of the controversy, but the fact that efficiency has reached that point in a plant where by the number employed and the installation of system, it could possibly be more profitable for the firm to keep track of such lost time than it would be to pay it and not keep track of it, is certainly carrying things up to the nth power.

The strike also indicates how completely interdependent we are. Any relatively small matter that throws out of adjustment our production or distribution machinery raises havoc all the way down the line. As civilization has become advanced, industrial processes more divided, the danger has increased that any break anywhere in the procedure stops all the processes. Hence the importance is increasing that we must reach a situation where maladjustments are well nigh impossible.

A MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

With the cancellation of his passport by the State department, Samuel Insull becomes a man without a country. In three months, unless some modification of Greek law is made, he will be deported from Greece. There is no country which will receive him but the United States; and the United States will receive him only as a man indicted before the law for an offense against its laws.

How are the mighty fallen! Three years ago he was one of the chief rulers in the empire of business. He was wealthy beyond the dreams of avarice. His power was so great that he could make the sovereign state of Illinois send his emissary to the Senate of the United States against the protests of all the high-minded people of the state. He suffered his first defeat when the United States Senate refused to admit his puppet. Even after that he continued to wield a vast influence financially and politically,—in the first much to the loss of thousands of honest investors whose money he wanted in his gigantic schemes to increase his personal power.

The end has at last come for Samuel Insull.

He may again become a British citizen, as he was originally. He may have saved enough from the wreck to keep him from want the rest of his days, which on account of his age cannot be long. But what is all that for one who has sat in the seats of the mighty, and before whom great leaders of business and finance long did obeisance. We do not rejoice in his downfall. Many others have done what he did, but they have been able to extricate themselves from the trap. We are ready to concede that he was not criminal at heart. He made a wide bid for power, he played with great stakes, and he lost. His life story ought to serve as a warning to young men and teach the lesson that the highest joy comes to a man when he serves humanity, even though such service is not always appreciated, rather than by pampering his pride and his lust for power and dominion.

A NEW RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT

A new religious movement known as Buchmanism, has been arresting considerable attention in the news recently. The founder of the cult, Rev. Frank Buchman, has succeeded in interesting most influential groups in this country and abroad. It is a return to revivalism, but of a much more sober and less emotional type. Many society people have taken it up, doubtless as a relief from the emptiness of lives which have sought life's satisfactions in money and social activities.

It is said that an attendance at one of these group meetings convinces one that it is accomplishing much good, and surely has a wonderful influence in changing life attitudes. The testimonies one hears at such a meeting do not differ much from those one is accustomed to hear in the old-fashioned Methodist class meeting. Among its devotees are members of the English and Dutch nobility. Among the guests at the last group meeting at Briarcliffe Manor, N. Y., were men and women, most of them quite young, whose names appear in the most exclusive social registers.

Some criticism has been raised against the movement by men like Prof. Luccock of Yale Divinity school, and others equally eminent in the religious world. Attention is called to the fact that there is no social idealism connected with it, and that it falls back upon much of the personal benefits which were so prominent in the old evangelism. The "sharing" and the "guidance" principles which are so much emphasized among the group, it is said, has the dangers of running into unwholesome intimacies and queer fanaticisms.

We cannot disapprove of any movement which makes lives better and more serious. Time alone can tell what the worth of such a movement will be, both to the person and to society. It should be encouraged for its good qualities. Its inherent weaknesses should be carefully guarded against.

LOST MONEY

It is reported that 472 million dollars worth of the old large bills, which were superseded by the present smaller bills now in use as currency, have not found their way back to the United States Treasury. The time has long since passed that they could be intact unless they have been carefully stowed away. Paper money needs frequent renewal.

The supposition is that most of this money has been lost, and will never be found. Of course, this is all to the good so far as the national treasury is concerned. On the basis of that supposition we see no reason why the equivalent of this lost money might not be re-issued by the treasury, and used for relief. It is still charged as a liability upon the treasury, when in all probability it has long since ceased to be. Forty per cent of the gold reserve in the treasury is held against it.

The time has long since passed when a return of that money is to be expected. It might be well to begin a move to put it into circulation for the benefit of those who are much in need in these trying days.

Babe and Colonel at It Again

San Francisco Chronicle

Once more the curtain rises on that serio-comic duel Babe Ruth and his Yankee boss, Colonel Jacob Ruppert, annually engage in over how much the King of Swat is to receive for his labors. It is one of the grand old game's necessary preliminaries. It is a harbinger of spring training camps and advance notice that the season's opening can be spied from afar.

One would think that with the repetition of the years this salary duel between the Bambino and the Colonel would lose some of its piquancy. It might, were the gift of showmanship less highly developed in the principals. For the lines of the play are as well known from the Adirondacks to the Sierra as the jokes in an almanac.

The Colonel comes on the scene muttering dourly that if the Babe is to knock home runs in his stadium he will have to come to terms. Whereat the Bambino in high indignation threatens to give up baseball for good and all unless his demands are met. Ultimatums fill the atmosphere like ticker tape falling on a parade of home-coming warriors. There is an air of tragedy about it all that is terrifying.

Meanwhile the sophisticated smile. They have seen the act so many times that they suspect the show is never put on until the combatants have come to terms. The cackling is merely a signal that the egg has been laid. There is a word for it all, and that is ballhoof. It is a great advertisement for the game. Already the sound picture apparatus is being tested for the signing ceremony.

The Babe may have to take a cut this year, but he assured it won't be enough to drive him out of the game. Colonel Ruppert needs the Babe and the King of Swat knows it. He draws money through the gate and that is what the Colonel is paying for. It isn't philanthropy.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A RESOLUTION

I've stood inert and viewed the throng
Meander to and fro,
I've watched, for weary hours long,
A muddy river flow;
In many a different land and clime,
And even on the sea,
I've hunted ways to waste my time
Which seemed all joke to me;
I've always dearly loved to shirk,
I'm idle as a lout,
But just the same I will not work
A jig-saw puzzle out.

I will not search, first here, then there,
For little crooked bits
Of board, some round, some nearly square,
And all of them misfits,
While other people sit around
A little wobbly stand,
And when a likely scrap I've found
Remove it from my hand,
What time I always am aware
That certain parties lurk
Invariably behind my chair
To kibitz my work.

I'll read the magazines and books
Upon a dentist's shelf,
I'll talk with gardeners and cooks,
And entertain myself;
I'll lie all day upon the lawn
And watch a grazing horse,
And, when the afternoon is gone,
I shall not feel remorse,
But, never mind how bleak and dry
Are my remaining days,
shall not be infected by
The jig-saw puzzle craze.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

SILENCERS AND SERVERS

We are in a winter of discontent. Whether that discontent largens or lessens will depend upon the approach of leadership to the problem of discontent.

Throughout history there have been two major approaches by two schools of thought respecting the best way to deal with discontent.

(1) There have been those who have thought that the only rational way to deal with discontent is to remove its cause.

(2) There have been those who have thought that the only effective way to deal with discontent is to gag the discontented.

The first school sets out to serve the discontented.

The second school sets out to silence the discontented.

There has come to my desk this morning a clipping from The Beacon of Wichita, Kansas, in which Mrs. Henry Lampl gives a vivid illustration of the second school of thought respecting discontent.

She is commenting upon some clergyman's remarks upon what he regarded as the failure of the Greek Catholic religion to keep itself out of entangling alliances with the more sinister aspects of the old regime in Russia and free to serve the deeper interests of the Russian people.

Mrs. Lampl seemingly belongs to the irrational school of thought that thinks it more important to persecute radicalism than to prevent radicalism by constructive progress.

Commenting on the clergyman's reference, she says respecting the activity of the Greek Catholic religion under the Czar, "Certainly it does not satisfy the Western mind, but, nevertheless, it was something through which the peasant soul could find release and something to hold the peasant mind in line."

It is this last phrase which betrays, to me, a dangerous point of view.

Something to hold the peasant mind in line!

In a rational world it would never occur to men to prostitute either a church or a government to the project of holding the peasant mind in line.

I do not believe in Communism, either for the peasantry or for the proletariat, but I insist that, whether in Russia or in the United States, the answer to discontent is to serve the discontented rather than to silence them.

KEEPING IN

Keeping a child in the house when he is longing to go out to play is one of our favorite punishments. Home as well as school says, "You like to go out in the freedom of the open air. You love to be active, to leap and shout and race with might and main. You've displeased me so I'll make you as miserable as I can by keeping you in. If you are miserable enough, maybe you will remember the next time you are tempted to do wrong."

Maybe he will. The changes are he won't. I have noticed for many years of school time that the same children are kept in day after day.

The same teachers keep children in term after term. I have noticed also that there are teachers who never keep anybody in but dismiss the class promptly at the dismissal bell. The kept-in children do no better than those who are dismissed on time. The children who are not kept in behave much better than those who are.

"That's because they were bad to start with," says the teacher who extends her school day into the evening because of delayed dismissals. "I didn't keep them in. They would never do anything."

Experience teaches me differently. A child who is troublesome in school does not need to be kept in. He needs to be let out. If he is a dull child, and he usually is, he needs less sitting still, less confinement, much more activity and much more open air. Fresh air helps the blood supply and school activity depends largely upon the quantity and the quality of the blood supplied to the brain centers. The duller the child the more important these facts are to him.

The children who trouble their mothers by poor behavior on the playground are often brought in and kept in. "For that you have to sit on that chair for 15 minutes. The idea of your hitting Thomas on the head with your shovel. You know better than that. And you stay in for the rest of the afternoon."

That sentence might be passed upon a child occasionally for his good but when you find it necessary to repeat it day after day you can make up your mind that it is doing him no good. What he needs is freedom in activity under wise direction. No mother can stay with a runabout child all his play time. It would not be wise to do so if she could. It is better to start the child at his play and leave him. The start is very important.

When a child has been indoors for twelve or fourteen hours, as he usually has been when sent out to play in the morning, he is overflowing with energy. I have seen such a child dash at his friend and send him heels over head and then dance a war dance over his prostrate body. Not in malice; in exuberance of misdirected energy.

If you have such a child run him about the garden or the playground or the park for a quarter of an hour to wear down his first mad desire for relief. Then start him at his play with the other children. This will tend to decrease the number of fights, thumps with the elbows, the bits administered in excitement, and the like. It will do away with many of the occasions for keeping in. That must be done at times but the times must be few and far between or you will have more trouble instead of less.

It would help settle many a restless class into working attitudes if dismissal came promptly at all times, and recesses were timed and administered with intelligence. Not keeping in but letting out is what children need most.

Ratified the treaty of "amity and commerce" with Holland. Rhode Island's assent was written "including Rhode Island and Providence Plantations." It was written by James Madison.

Congress 100 Years Ago

Senate: Calhoun offered three resolutions declaring 1. that the people of the several states are united as a constitutional compact to which the people of each state acceded as a separate sovereign community; 2. that the people by the compact delegated powers to the government; 3. that the government at the same time the residuary mass of powers, and when the general government assumes the exercise of powers not delegated its acts are unauthorized and no effect; 3. that the assertions that the people of these United States taken collectively as individuals are now or ever have been formed into one people and have not retained their sovereignty are not only without foundation but are contrary to plain historical fact.
